No, this isn't a gossip column. I'll admit it would probably be more interesting to hear the "side dope" about some of your best friends, but it just isn't ethical.

With spring in the air, you've probably seen the "pairs" on the campus and know more about who goes with who, and where, than I do.

Almost everyone went home to spend Easter holidays. May and Faye Welch spent their vacation at home in Tallahassee. Mary, Ruth Morgan went to Allamore, Okla. to be with her "folks". Betty Baker returned to Broken Arrow, Okla.

The New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox of the American League are expected to be the favorites in the pennant race in the Junior League. Other teams include Boston 2-1, Brooklyn 2-1, Philadelphia 2-1, Washington 2-1, Chicago and St. Louis 100-1.

It also should be expected that Boston and New York are rated as favorites. The two teams are showing their faith in good team play, capable pitchers, and two excellent catchers, Don Williams and the Yankee Joe Mauer. Not wanting to fly in the face of traditionally proven odds, this commentator predicts that Boston with the aid of combination of their new manager, Meyer Joe Phillips and Terrence Ted Williams will wrap up the pennant in the first round of the season. Detroit and Cleveland will be worthy contenders while the other teams will have a great time.

The Senior National league made an entirely different picture. There are four teams very difficult in the race.

St. Louis and the Redbirds are leading the odds 8-5 followed by Boston 2-1, Brooklyn 2-1, and New York 2-1. The also runs are rated Pittsburgh 15-1, Cincinnati and Chicago 15-1 and the Philadelphia Phillies are expected to fill the cellar spot at 40-1.

All the way the top four squads, St. Louis, Boston, Brooklyn and New York will be fighting for the pennant and while St. Louis is now it is no secret that their pennant hopes depend largely on Stan Musial who had a dismal season last year and the injured all time great shortstop, Marty Marion. Currently the Boston Braves are showing more class than any other spring training camp. Manager Billy Southworth has plenty of material with the added advantage of two 30 game winners, Warren Spahn and Johnny Sain to man the pitching load. Brooklyn will be under the leading managerial reign of Leo Durocher with virtually the same team that won the pennant for last year.

Coach Buddy Brothers of Tulsa U. recently stated that the draft was a great deal of money from the point of view of his team next fall. As it is at T.U. and other colleges in the state, the greatest aid would come in the freshman and sophomore ranks.

Most coaches are relying on the fact that boys recruited in college will not be affected by the bill, but so far this is only an unofficial statement.

The Brooklyn Dodgers of the National seem to be the kingpins and at the same time are needed by many sports writers as a club that needs a great deal of on-the-ground spy. Director Frick has been and best spirited club he has ever managed.

Since returning as head pilot he has shaken the infield slightly with Jackie Robinson at first, Ed Miksis in second, Ray Boone at third, and Tommy Brown, a 20-year-old youngster on third. Even at this stage only one of the infield is a sure-shot.

These are the Dodgers that are predicted to take the pennant hands down. There's one thing that we will definitely have a team on the field starting April 20.

The recent tournament to determine the team which would face the future four of the fairways finds Dick Reeves in the saddle for the present time with Marshall Smith, Walter Williams, and Jack Chabough in the two, three, and four spots. Coach Jess Frerthouse stated that each week the director C. C. Roney is doing a league smoothly and with flawless perfection.

Barnacles are closely related to lobsters.

Red Raiders Are New Intra-Mural Champs
Press Club Push Victors But Lose

Being champions of the intra-mural basketball league is an achievement of personal satisfaction which each of the 10 members of the Red Raider squad has acquired.

Directed by Coach Jess Frerthouse, the Raiders were undefeated in seven straight contests to end the season with a 1,000 percent mark.

The Raiders were a well-rounded club with one team showing the way in one game and in another the second five would take the floor and pounce on hapless victims with the same precision as the first five.

With Mandy Palmer and Jack Mieno at forwards, Harold Wallace and Norval Trank at guards, and Dick Stratton at the jump post, the Raiders displayed a dazzling offense that at every instance left the opposition at a standstill.

In Palmer the Raiders had a set shot artist indeed. Palmer repeated what he did from long shots with great ease and simplicity. Mieno proved his ability in breaking through the best and tightest defenses in the league. Wallace was perhaps the smallest player on the team but his cat-like actions on the court easily made up for his limited height. Trank was an excellent floor man and play maker. His speed on the hardwoods was a great advantage on fast breaks. In Dick Stratton, the air-tight defensive jump man, the Raiders possessed controlling height under the basket.

The second five consisting of Paul Williams and Bill Vanz at guards, Bill Rowden and Joe Robinson at forwards, and Bill Watkins jumping center, the team was a complete machine. Capable reserves proved to be the deciding factor in a large percent of the games played.

The charges of Coach Frerthouse rolled over the Aggie, Spartan Independents, Hobbs, L. I., and the P. I. Sign, Engineers, and slugged by the towering Press Club, 30-25, for the championship.

Among lesser-used reserves are derivatives of the thornapple, henbane, hops and lettuce.

Softball Holds Sports Spotlight

Once again the familiar wish of an underhand fast ball and the cracking of a bat splits the brick spring air as a total of seven teams being mixing physical prowess with a will to win the College intra-mural softball championship.

Banking him in the eyes of this writer is the powerful Press Club team. The infield is expected to be of the highest caliber of the league with Don Kinkaid on first, Don Simpson on second, Max Colony at short, and J. E. Landon on third.

The outfield is in a jumbled state but will be equipped with plenty of speed. Bob "Hundred" Thompson is primed for the right field assignment, Jess Adams at center, and Jack Wallace, along with "Fussy" Morgan at the left field spot.

A hurling staff seems to be the main problem. In Orville Gilland the Press Club has a fireball pitcher who is capable of holding his own with the best. The only flaw in the staff is the fact that there isn't enough reserve material.

Twilight League Opens at Spartan

The past few days have been the call to arms for many of the Spartan athletes. To meet the Spring sports demands Jess Frerthouse, Spartan director, had organized intra-mural clubs in volleyball, softball, tennis, and ping-pong. About one hundred men are participating including the Spartan flying caletta.

Frerthouse asserts that Spartan has excellent equipment and grounds. He also stated that anyone living at Spartan is invited to take a hand in the program.

Two volley-ball courts have been erected, there are two cement tennis courts, two ping-pong tables, and two soft-ball diamonds.

The organized program will get underway this week and the first out is expected to be played.

The softball is a jumbled race with Pete Reiser, Arky Vaughan, Ed Sader, Gene Hermandski, Don Lusk, Mary Backler, and Frerthouse in the running. Of the seven mentioned perhaps the best prospect would be the veteran Pete Reiser followed by the converted infielder Arky Vaughan.

A young, erratic, fireball hurling staff is the main problem. The staff is led by Walter Williams, Ed Sader, and Frerthouse. The staff is led by Walter Williams, Ed Sader, and Frerthouse.

Reeves, Smith Top Norsemen Tee Squad

"Golf is a game in which there are two balls—one is 1 and 1/2 inches in diameter, the other is 2,500 miles in diameter. The object is to hit the little ball—Thus the strikers of Northeastern A. & M. dusted off their idle clubs and battled on the local Country club links for team honors last week with the two top needed knockers, Dick Reeves and Marshall Smith, after drawing eyes in the first round, advance to the number one and two spots on the team respectively.

Reeves blasted the veteran Smith 1 up to take top seeded honors on the team. Playing the deciding match on the Joplin course, which is much shorter than the Miami layout, Reeves combined his booming drive with accurate approach shots to leave Smith at the post. Smith is a smooth, consistent potter with a methodical swing and is regarded as a serious contender on the fairways at all times.

Reeves moved to the number one position after defeating Walter Williams 2 up, who in turn advanced to the number three spot in downing J. T. Baxley 1 up and Jack Chabough 4 up. Chabough earlier defeated Bob Winger 3 up to land the number four spot on the team.

There has been no statement concerning future matches put forth by Coach Jess Frerthouse. It is holding time to give the golfers much needed practice in an effort to bring the game up to par. The Miami course is still in the rough stage but is rapidly rounding into excellent shape.

Between 1941 and 1942, U. S. auto traffic decreased 60 percent.
