NUMBER TWO

PLANNING STRATEGY—Donna McNatt, Viking yearbook editor, and Wayne Bishop, Norse Wind editor, check recent material for use in future issues.

McNatt Chosen as Editor Of 1961 Viking Yearbook

Donna McNatt, Miami freshman, has been selected as the editor for the 1961 Viking yearbook, according to Ivan Holmes, annual sponsor.

McNatt has had previous journalism experience as assistant editor of the Miami high school yearbook and plans to continue her journalism study at Northeastern A&M college.

Space Authority To Visit College

Michael Amrine, author of "The Great Decision," a book about the secret history of the atomic bomb, will speak to the NEO student body on the subject "Man Into Space" at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 12 in the college auditorium.

Amrine is considered an authority on space as he has managed the publicity campaign for the Federation of Atomic Scientists and later was director of public education for Brookhaven Laboratory, a peacetime research center of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Amrine has published articles in Look, Colliers, This Week, and other well known publications on outstanding figures of atomic energy, including Harold C. Urey, and Albert Einstein.

Other staff members are Rex Whzansky, Picher; Guy Guinn, Tulsa, and Arthur Smith, Picher.

Any student interested in working on the yearbook should contact Ivan Holmes in the Norse Wind office.

The author of two published novels: All Sons Must Say Good-by and Secret, Amrine is now a consultant for the American Psychological Association, the Air Research and Development Command of the U. S. Air Force, and other scientific agencies.

Wayne Bishop Named Editor Of Norse Wind

Wayne Bishop, freshman from Tulsa Webster, has been chosen to serve as editor of the Norse Wind for the current school year according to Ivan Holmes, sponsor.

Bishop is attending NEO on a journalism scholarship and is presently serving as president of the Press Club. He is also a member of the Viking yearbook staff.

Also Olivia Mashunleashay, Pawhuska; Melba Soaton, Commerce; Noriko Shinoda, Tokyo, Japan; Janice Sparkman, Miami; Imogene Stewart, Grove; Ted Watts, Miami; Walter Walters, Tulsa and Mary Zdroz, Claremore.

The Norse Wind was rated first in photography and sports writing and second in editorials and all-around newspaper in last year's Oklahoma Intercollegiate Press Association contest.

Free Tickets Still Available

The Hub Clothing company is still giving away free tickets to the downtowns Miami theater in a get acquainted offer that has been underway for the past two weeks.

DON PRICE DON PITMAN JANE BENICK GAIL HART

Price, Pitman Win Top SC Positions

Don Price, Nowata, and Donne Pitman, Catoosa, swept into the presidency and vice-presidency of the student council of Northeastern A&M in the all-school election held recently in the auditorium.

J. D. WILHOIT

J. D. Wilhoit, head of drafting and design technology at NEO was featured on the cover of the September issue of "The Draftsman," official national publication of the association of professional draftsmen. Wilhoit is a national director of the Association of Professional Draftsmen and known nationally in the drafting and design field.

Other officers who will hold positions for the fall semester are Jane Renick, Miami, secretary-treasurer, and Terry Westfall, Miami, and Bonnie Stoner, Miami, representatives at large. Gail Hart was elected as head cheerleader and will have the responsibility of leading the other members of the cheering squad.

Price states the following views on the success of student government: "The student council will represent and work in the best interests of the student body and place the functions of the council under the control of the students." In conclusion he added, "Your student council is only as good as you make it."

Barbara Fields opposed Price for the office of president, while Pitman was running against Bill Essary. The other officers were unopposed.

Although the officers have been elected, it still remains for student council representatives to be chosen from the various clubs and organizations at NEO. The council officers urge everyone to consider the qualifications of all candidates very carefully.

Fisher, Hodder Selected To Head '61 Class Officers

Sophomore and freshmen class elections were held on the campus recently with Ted Fisher and Mark Hodder being chosen as president for their respective classes.

Emergency Loan Ready For Use

The "Bill Goodner Student Loan Fund", an emergency loan for Northeastern A&M college students, has been set up by Mrs. W. H. Goodner and Mrs. W. R. Goodner in memorial to their husbands. The loan was started on W. R. (Bill) Goodner's 30th birthday.

Students may borrow up to $25 which must be paid back within 30 days. The only charge is 25 cents which will be used to provide a scholarship to some worthwhile student with high academic ability.

Students should see Mrs. Elizabeth Hutt, registrar, if they wish to use the loan. According to Mrs. Hutt "the more the loan is used the better it will be as it will allow money to build up for the scholarship."

If a student has any emergencies, such as no money for a bus-

The upperclassmen met in the Little Theater and elected Fisher as presy for the 1960-61 school term. The following were also elected as sophomore class officers: Joe Darsing, Miami, vice-president; Carol Nothus, Grove, secretary; Flordeana Elliot, Seneca, Mo., treasurer; Don Pitman, Catoosa, student council representative; and Monte Berkley, Miami, sergeant at arms.

Fisher attended Jenks high school where he was vice-president of the student council. He is majoring in Business Education.

Freshmen elections were held in the auditorium at the same time the sophs were in caucus. Guy Tucker was selected to back Hodder as vice-president of the class with Connie Witbracht, Miami, serving as treasurer.

Sue Nelle Webb, Miami, won a close race with Shirley Guthrie, Sand Springs, for secretary.

Girls To Battle On Gridiron In 1960 Powder Puff Bowl

BY JANICE SPARKMAN

Are the sophomores of NEO really in power, or have the rambunctious freshmen soared to the top rung in the ladder at the NEO junior college? This question should be answered Thursday, October 6, at 5 p.m. on Robertson field in the second NEO Powder Puff Bowl.

After much prompting and challenging by the upperclassmen, the freshmen girls have finally agreed to take to the football field for a titanic struggle with their bitter rivals, the sophomore females. Both teams are expected to stick to a bruising running game featured by the long-distance sprinters of Shirie "Kookhones" Elliot and Sue Nelle "Spider" Webb.

The game will be the second renewal of Northeastern's Powder Puff Bowl and is being sponsored by the NEO Press Club. Admission to Robertson Field for the contest will be 25 cents, with tickets being sold by members of the Press club and at the gate.

Featuring the half time activities will be the crowning of the 1960 Football King and his attendants. Making his first public appearance will be the newly crowned Band Sweetheart and his attendants. Helping in the ceremonies will be the Norse Stars, a group of 20 drill experts from the Gordon Norse football team. The crowd will be entertained throughout the game by the marching band of NEO and four handsome majorettes.

The struggle will consist of four six-minute periods with one minute between quarters. The rugged individuals who have volunteered to participate in the Powder Puff Bowl will be outfitted in complete uniforms supplied by athletic director Red Robertson.

It is probable that Max Buzzard will be in charge of nodding the red-shirted sophs into a well-rounded grid team. His girls have already proved that they have a powerful line, but many backfield positions are still in doubt. It is expected that Joyce Livingsood will be at the starting quarterback slot, however. Other probable starters for the old guard are Gail Hart, Carol Nothus, Nancy Hoggle and Sally "The Dutchman" Luckey.

If the fresh females have their way, Jackie Rucker will return to coaching duties with the chore of using the youthful speed in his backfield to overcome the lack of size from left to right end. Another sore spot is the injury sustained by star backfield ace Shirley Guthrie. She acquired her injury when she took a tumble down the stairs in the girls' dorm.

The game should also be a grudge battle, with the frosh trying to even things up for many dunkings they received during the first few weeks of school. The sophomores are still fighting the embarrassment of a moral defeat in the conclusion of the class election assemblies this month.

The Reb Visits NEO

The following saga is taken from the pages of a diary of a wandering mosquito trying to escape the mental agony of a civil war between the blood suckers of North Tulsa and those of South Tulsa.

Sept. 18, 1960: I finished the first leg of my journey to mental freedom this evening when I stopped at a junior college in Miami, Okla., to spend the night and get something to drink.

Wanting to take a nap before looking for a meal, I immediately began scanning the campus for a quiet and peaceful spot.

My first effort was in vain, as I walked along the ceiling of the boys' dorm and almost got decapitated by a flying missile resembling a shoe. It seems the residents were having a playful game of improvised football.

The girls' dorm was almost as bad, for I wound up being thrown into a shower bath for not wearing a beanie. In order to dry myself off I took a little flight down to the student union. My stay did not last long, however, as I could not stand the constant noises and the smell of so many different flavors of plasma.

In a last desperate attempt for peace and solitude, I traversed a great distance toward a part of the campus which was illuminated by huge lights. I almost lost my wings when someone went overboard on a bonfire and sent flames soaring into the air.

Finally attaining my goal of the lighted area, I was surprised to see that here too they were playing football. But at least it was quiet. There was not too much yelling or jumping around, and yet there were enough students present to give me a variety of choices for my evening meal. I recommend Robertson Field to all rebels who are attempting to escape from noise and unnecessary jumping about.

National Auto Safety Champ Claims Driving Can Be Fun

BY ROBERT RICHARDS

There's no doubt that Denton Lazenby, who has recently earned the title of "Safest Driver in America" and a scholarship worth $2,000, is the safest driver on the NEO campus or anywhere else he goes.

Lazenby is a resident of Miami and presently enrolled as a freshman at Northeastern. This summer he won over 99 other finalists in the national contest held in Washington, D. C. His start to national fame, however, began when he won the local driving test sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Miami. His next step was winning the state competition in Guthrie.

His success in the final judging was the first time that an Oklahoman has won the award. Another Miami boy, Larry Cottam, finished sixth in 1957.

The final tests consisted of written questions, driving skill, personality, psychological and physical attitudes, and road tests. Making the trip to the National Capitol along with Lazenby were his father and W. R. Raney, his driving coach.

Many hours were spent in practice at the Civic Center parking lot, where he went through various obstacle courses. His efforts were rewarded when he was presented the scholarship along with other prizes, including a huge trophy.

Showing that his winning was not just luck, Lazenby's driving record is absent of any accidents or traffic violations of any kind. His knowledge of cars does not stop with skill in driving, however, as he has put together and kept in excellent shape a 1961 Chevrolet coupe.

"Many teen-age drivers are involved in accidents because of the constant urging of passengers in the car to go faster or try other tricks with his vehicle," Lazenby stated when asked about the excess of accidents caused by young drivers. Lazenby also feels that teenagers do too much "hot rodding and dragging" in city streets. When asked why he chose Northeastern A&M college to continue his education Lazenby stated "I think the college here has an outstanding two year program and the residents in this area ought to support the college in every way possible."

Aches, Pains Are Real Part Of Norse Stars

The girl's dorm has been full of comments like, "Oh, my back and legs," "I sure am pooped," and "Boy, am I tired," since school has been under way. These statements have been issued by members of the Norse Stars.

The drill team has been undergoing extensive training in dance routines, exercises and practice to prepare for a full schedule of performances.

Mrs. Kathryn Phillips is director of the group and the choreography is done by Mrs. Virginia Lee Wilson.

Present line-up includes the following girls: Gail Hart, Donna Gammon, Marlene Jamison, Nova Lee Theising, Sue Kester, Karun Williams, Jo Dawn Newburn, Ruth Pine, Beverly Pyne and Georgia DuVall.

Elections, Homecoming Plans Feature NEO Club Meetings

Activities got in full swing at NEO when various campus clubs were called back to order for the first time this year with election of officers.

Home Economics Club

The Home Economics club held election of officers at their first meeting Sept. 13. The following officers were put in office: Patty Hollis, Welch, president; Mary Ethyl Nickis, Grove, vice-president; Judy Fronterhouse, Fairland, secretary-treasurer; Randy Kimberling, Vinita, student council representative; and Tony Jean Houck, Jay, reporter. The club, with an enrollment of thirty members, will meet the first Tuesday of each month between 3:30 and 1:30 p.m.

Military Fraternity Club

Twenty-five members of the Masquer were present at the first meeting held Sept. 13. Officers elected at that time were Terry Westfall, Miami, president; Fred Holt, Miami, vice-president; Mary Jane Moore, Fairland, secretary-treasurer; Mary Spriggs, Wyandotte, student council representative; and Phillip Garoutte, Miami, alternate.

Press Club

Discussion of homecoming activities and election of officers was held at the first meeting of the Press Club, Sept. 20. Those elected were Wayne Bishop, Tulsa, president; Jack Spencer, Miami, vice-president; Shirley Guthrie, Sand Springs, secretary; and Mary Zodrow, Claremore, treasurer.

Two committees were appointed to make plans for the homecoming float. They were as follows: materials, Fred Reid, Jenks, Ted Watts, Miami, Guy Guinn, Tulsa, and Jack Spencer, Miami, and decorations, Donna McNatt, Miami, Shirley Guthrie, Sand Springs, and Mary Zodrow, Claremore, decoration.

secretary; and Diane Melton, Derby, Kan., treasurer.

Carol Niehus, Grove, was selected student council representative while Gail Hart, Tulsa, was chosen as alternate. Dorm preceptors, who will assist Mrs. Phillips this year, are Carol Nelhus and Joyce Dugan.

Finance Office Must Have Form

Mildred Carter, director of the NEO finance office, urges all students who have received National Student Defense Loans to fill out the necessary papers and take them to the finance office immediately.

Those who have been notified of such loans are requested to fill out Form NDEA 11-15 Student Data Form in Dean Ferree's office and present this form in the finance office for final processing.

Girl's Dorm

Girl's dorm officers were appointed at a joint freshmen-sophomore meeting Sept. 18. Preceding the election, Mrs. Kathryn Phillips, house mother, discussed the rules and regulations that will apply to all girls living on the campus this year.

Officers elected were Joyce Livengood, Manchester, president; Joyce Dugan, Chetopa, Kan., vice-president; Virginia Ford, Tulsa,

Norse Down Eastern A&M 28-13; Run Into 48-7 Ambush at Tyler

Apaches Strike Quickly For Runaway Victory

The Apaches of Tyler, Texas, gave notice to football experts that they are contenders for the National Junior Football crown by defeating last year's champions from Northeastern A&M by the score of 48-7.

With both teams winning their first two games, it seemed inevitable that a nip and tuck battle was on hand for the large crowd anxiously awaiting the start of the contest at Tyler's Rose Stadium.

However, it took the Apaches only 11 plays to show the fans what kind of a game it was going to be.

After taking the opening kickoff, Tyler marched unobscured down field under the direction of quarterback Jim Lyons. The sophomore signal caller used only two passes, but both came in the clutch. An eight-yard pass to end Dean Staples settled the initial score of the game. A two-point conversion gave the Texans an 8-0 lead which they never relinquished.

The Golden Norse of NEO got a great opportunity to score when two Tyler fumbles put pig skin on the Apache 25. The Norse could not move inside the 10, however, and the home team took over after Gene Hart's unsuccessful field goal attempt from the 17.

The remainder of the first half was all Tyler, as the burly lads from the South completely controlled the football and mounted a 21-0 lead. Spearheading the vicious Apache attack were halfbacks Carly Manchester and Henry Bexley. Lyons saw little action after the first quarter, as two substitute quarterbacks ran circles around Norse defenders.

It was Frank Brewer who put the contest on ice as far as Aggie fans were concerned, as the hard-hitting fullback scored twice on runs of five and 42 yards.

The second half had hardly started before Manchester went through the middle of the NEO line for a 34-yard touchdown. The kick was good by Duane Bean and the scoreboard read 28-0. With the Norsemen failing to make a first down in the third stanza, Tyler moved in for the kill, scoring just before the end of the quarter on a 16-yard scamper by substitute half Ken Jones.

After a blocked punt by Freddie Martin was recovered in the NEO end zone for an Apache lead of 48-0, the Norse appeared to be rallying when they completed a pass from Hart to end Don Pitman for a first down. But a holding penalty once again forced the losers to punt. Seven plays later Butch Wright caught another touchdown pass to make it a 48-0 game.

Stan McGee, soph halfback from Tulsa, provided the only running threat for the Norse when he entered the game late in the final period for his first turn on the offensive squad. He carried the ball six times in an 11 play, 75-yard scoring thrust by Northeastern, although it was a pass from Hart to Pitman which netted the six-points. Hart's conversion made the final score 48-7.

Early 27-0 Lead Stands As Norse Win League Tilt

Northeastern A&M struck for a 27-0 lead and held on to defeat Eastern A&M, 27-13, in their first conference game of the season Friday, Sept. 16 on Robertson Field.

Bill Carlin and Bob Bruno led the Norse attack in the early stages of the game which saw the defending national champs take a 20-0 lead into the locker room. Carlin scored early in the third quarter to ice the game for NEO before the Mountaineers broke into the scoring column.

A 65-yard march to paydirt for the initial score was highlighted by a pass from Gene Hart to halfback Paul Payne which covered 22 yards. Payne again took the spotlight, throwing a pass to end Wayne Jordan, who made a diving catch in the end zone for a six point lead.

Paul Ducroey got the Norse started on their second touchdown when he blocked a kick at the Eastern 48. Hart went over from the one and then added the conversion kick for a 13-0 count.

Stan McGee's interception of a Benny Lovett pass opened the way for the third score. The touchdown came on a great catch by end Calvin Harris. Hart's second extra point made the score 20-0 at half.

Another break set up Carlin's three-yard scoring thrust into the end zone. The Golden Norsemen went from their own 15 to the Eastern goal after getting a reprieve on a pass interference ruling.

A fumble and a huge hole in the NEO line provided the only scoring opportunities for the Mountaineers. Lovett made a beautiful fake to his fullback and then tossed the leather to second-string halfback, Ronnie Rice, who scored easily.

After being bottled up for most of the night, Eastern's 200-pound fullback, Bob Wallace, went over right tackle and before the secondary could adjust he had scored 16 yards for the final marker and a score of 27-13.

Raiders Here Saturday In All Important Contest

BY WAYNE BISHOP

If the Golden Norsemen of Northeastern A&M are to again win the state junior college championship, they will have to prove it to sports fans throughout the state in the next two weeks.

Coach Red Robertson and his squad of football players will run up against two of the toughest teams in small college football when they meet Grand Rapids, Michigan, and Murray A&M to begin the second month of play.

Saturday night the Raiders from Michigan will be trying to make it two straight over the Norse as the perennial toughies tangle in Robertson Field. NEO fans were stunned last season when Grand Rapids scored three times in the last half to hand the 1960 National Champs their first and only loss, 20-13.

After mounting an early lead of 13-0, the Norsemen lost a bottle of elements to a driving rain storm and gave up three touchdowns on a blocked kick and two fumbles.

The trip to Tishomingo could be just as disastrous for the Norse, as the home town Aggies figure to be even tougher than last year. Their only loss in the 1960 conference race was to the Norsemen as Murray finished a close second.

Coach Elmer Massey was a little surprised when his squad lost their season opener to the Northern Mavericks. The game seemed to be salted away when a pass interception and a long scoring heave in the last few minutes beat the Aggies. Northern continued their winning ways last week when they squeaked by a very tough Coffeyville ball club 8-0.

Northeastern will be trying to come back from a lopsided loss to a Tyler, Texas, team which has been tabbed by many as the number one club in the nation.

The significance of the Grand Rapids duel is great for another loss would put the damper on the NEO squad. If the Norse can bounce back, however, it could be another fine season for NEO.

STAN MCGEE — One of the bright spots in the Norse loss to Tyler was the running of McGee, sophomore halfback from Tulsa. McGee is also one of the top Norse defensive halfbacks and will be in action Saturday against Grand Rapids, Mich.

NEO Pep Assembly Set For Tomorrow

A pep assembly will be held Friday afternoon for the Grand Rapids football contest being played Saturday night on Robertson field. The pep assembly will include the cheerleaders, band, football team and NEO students. All students are invited to attend.

TAKE A GOOD LOOK—George Everett, sophomore halfback from Shiloh, is enjoying one of the few moments when NEO runners were not being tackled by the huge linemen of the Tyler, Texas, Apaches. Even this fine kickoff return was marred by one of the numerous penalties stopped off against the Golden Norsemen.
