NORTHEASTERN OKLAHOMA A & M COLLEGE

Miami, Oklahoma

Presents

“THE CAMPUS,” starring . . .

... THE OPPORTUNITIES TO ATTEND ...

Dr. D. D. Creech, President, dictates to his secretary, Mrs. Virginia Woods.

Dr. D. D. Creech
President

Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College affords multiple opportunities for students as they begin their educational program. This school is a comprehensive junior college dedicated to meeting the needs of the individual student. The school is large enough to provide for optimum opportunities and yet small enough to serve the individual.

Counseling services are provided to aid in the selection of a program of study. Special developmental courses are available and emphasis is being given to the development of new courses and programs. Students seeking special aid are able to participate in individual help programs including special tutoring and counseling. The choice of study areas is equivalent to those offered by most senior colleges.

Many opportunities for financial assistance are offered through scholarships and work positions. Students seeking financial aids are assisted through the Director of Financial Aids. Early application will enhance the possibility of securing financial assistance.

The comprehensive junior college is the college of today and tomorrow.

Sincerely,

D. D. Creech

. . . THE PHYSICAL FACILITIES . . .

The Fine Arts Center is the focal point for dramatic productions, art work, speech, foreign language, and humanities. This newly constructed Center has a theatre with approximately 1000 seating capacity. This theatre is used for local dramatic productions and as a center for co-curricular activities for the student body. The classrooms and offices encircle the theatre.

Ables Hall houses the Vocational-Technical Division. Facilities include laboratories and classrooms for electronics, drafting and design, nurses' training, air-conditioning, auto-mechanics, welding, and other technologies and are completely environmentally controlled.

Copen Hall is designed for instruction in business, home economics, and music. The wing of the building housing the music department is equipped with individual practice rooms and a spacious band rehearsal room. The remainder of the first floor is allocated to the Business Division. The second floor includes an ultra-modern home economics school, including five fully equipped pastel kitchens, a well-provided sewing room, and a combination dining room-lounge.

The Health and Physical Education Center includes ultra-modern facilities for men's and women's physical education, including weight facilities, swimming pool, dressing facilities, and tumbling. Also, the center serves as the center for all varsity basketball activities.

THE LIBRARY-ADMINISTRATION BUILDING is the center of administrative activity and contains one of the finest libraries found in a junior college, one section of which is pictured, indicating the quality of materials and equipment offered the student for study and research. The Data Processing Center is also located here. THE WOMEN'S PHYSICAL EDUCATION BUILDING houses some of the women's physical education programs not included in the Health Center. SHIPLEY HALL serves primarily as a classroom building, housing the English Department, the Social Studies Division, the Mathematics Department, and the office of the Dean of Men and Financial Aids. CUNNINGHAM HALL is designed to give every modern facility necessary for science and agricultural laboratories and classrooms. It houses the Agriculture Division, the Chemistry Department, and the Biological and Earth Science Division.

Dyer Hall

Vann Hall

HARRILL-DOBSON HALLS are the latest dormitory additions to the campus. Harrill Hall houses approximately 200 men and Dobson Hall the same number of women. The two are joined by a spacious common lounge, the lower level of which is a snack bar. DYER HALL is a men's dormitory housing approximately 200 students. VANN HALL is a women's dormitory housing approximately 150 students. RUSSELL HALL, a men's dormitory, houses 200 students.

Russell Hall

. . . THE ACTIVITIES . . .

The Bruce G. Carter Student Union is the center for many activities for students. Also, the Union houses the cafeteria and food services, the game room, and the bookstore.

Student ID Cards are checked by faculty members as they attend a football game, one of the numerous varsity sports offering activity for the student.

Co-curricular activities are so numerous that students may need time to plan these so as not to conflict with study patterns.

Student coordinated activities and events, such as the Tar Creek recreation project, are important to most students.

Pep rallies give the student the opportunity to support his school and a chance for personal involvement.

Cheerleading tryouts are vigorous activities attracting numerous young ladies interested in this activity.

Visiting in Carter Student Union is an interesting pastime for many students.

A student reception at the beginning of each school year is an activity offering the individual the opportunity to acquaint himself with fellow students and faculty.

The interested student participates in activities to promote projects of personal interest.

The symbol of athletic activity available to the student is Odin, Norse mascot.

Student enthusiasm and "school spirit" at Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College are exemplified in numerous manners. Each year the student body gives magnanimous support to all athletic endeavors, providing the essential "spirit" necessary for championship programs. This "spirit" is indicated by the evening pep rally (left) to support the Norse football program. The enthusiasm portrays the image "once a Norseman, always a Norseman."

"School spirit" extends beyond athletic endeavors, however. Each year approximately 1,000 students provide a fabulous Christmas for approximately 350 children who might not otherwise have this opportunity. Students not only buy gifts, but most feel the "spirit" and exceed this by purchasing personal items for the children.

This year the "spirit" has moved students to combine efforts with the faculty to provide a recreational area east of the main campus near Tar Creek. A patio type area, with cooking facilities, is being constructed.

Also, student "spirit" has searched to provide the student with his own student-manned tutorial service. Aids have been provided in the dormitories for those students who feel the need for aid with special subjects.

. . . THE CLASSROOM WORK . . .

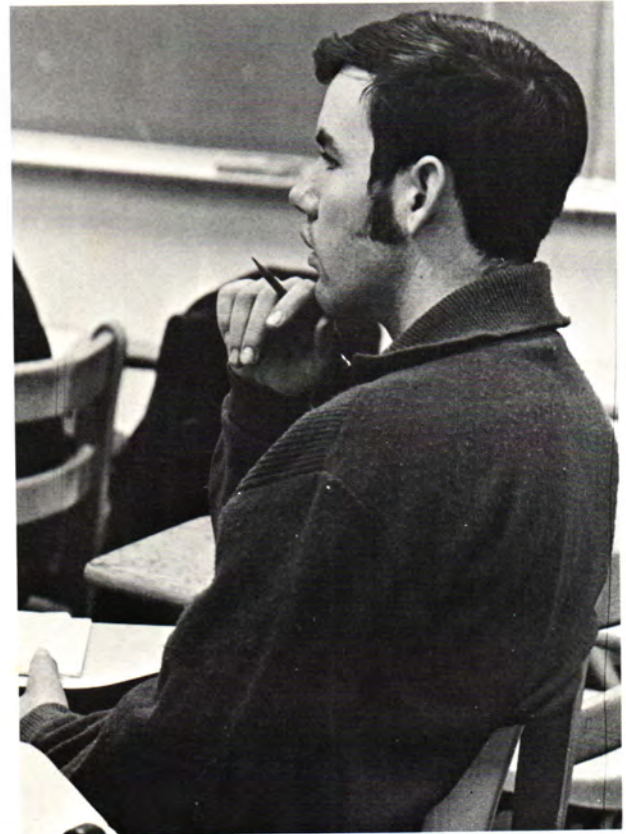

Students receive individual instruction in the use of reading equipment from the reading specialist, Mrs. Payne.

Students in Home Economics learn the art of sewing, with personal projects to make the course complete.

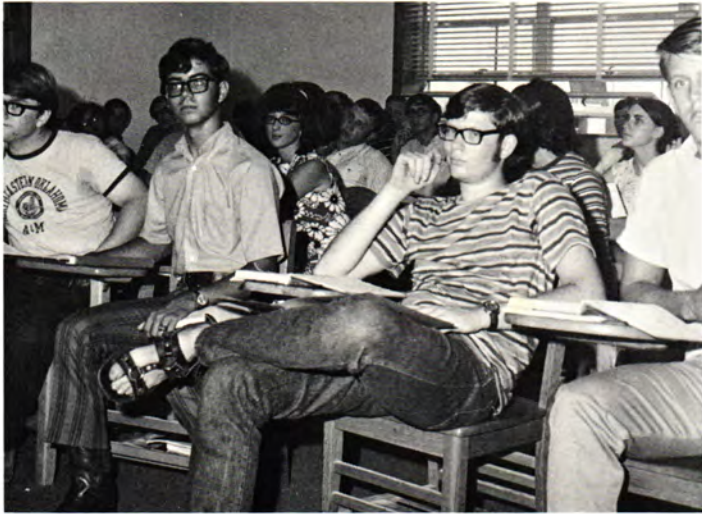

Proper procedure in handling a football is essential for good performance during a contest.

Concentration during class is essential for mastering the subject.

Not all work is reading and writing, but some is practical application of these.

Students pause briefly from a busy classroom schedule for the cameraman.

Some interesting ideas are exchanged outside the classroom door.

Classes often visit related areas for viewing application of classroom materials.

Automotive technology pursues both classroom instruction and application of the techniques learned.

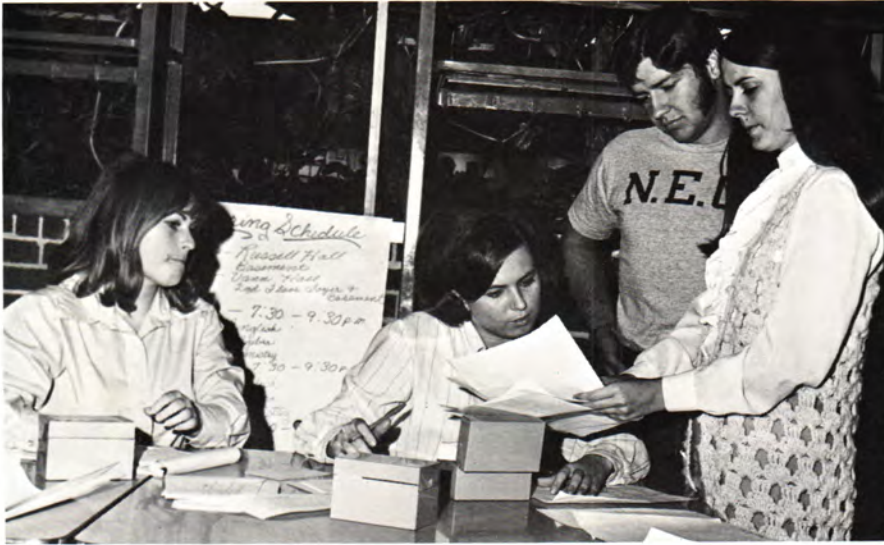

Library facilities are utilized by the students for study and research and by the faculty for certain classroom assignments.

Home Economics is an interesting field of study for women students, but is becoming increasingly popular for men students.

. . . THE WORK PROGRAMS . . .

Student secretaries take applications from students who adopt children for the annual Christmas party sponsored by the Student Senate.

A Student trainer earns his college expenses by working with the athletic program.

Bundling, labeling, and pricing books and other items are only a few of the work responsibilities of the student employee in the college book store.

Each year Northeastern Oklahoma A & M College provides work situations for approximately 350 students through the Financial Aids Office. These jobs enable the student who needs financial aid to earn funds necessary for him to attend college. Jobs range from maintenance to student secretaries and laboratory assistants and involve practically every phase of college life. These jobs also give job experience to the students involved.

Student secretaries and assistants section classes during regular enrollment.

Students aid in utilization of data processing equipment as a functional element of Northeastern A & M, as well as for class-work.

Laboratory assistants provide essential assistance for many instructors, such as the assistance given by Carolyn Sellmeyer to Mrs. Georgene Payne in the reading laboratory.

. . . THE DORMITORY LIFE . . .

Living facilities in Dobson Hall provide the student with a pleasant atmosphere and adequate facilities, including those necessary for study.

Harrill Hall provides the male student with spacious quarters and study facilities as his home away from home.

Students living in campus housing are provided snack bar facilities in the lower level of the Harrill-Dobson complex. Adjacent to the snack facilities is a modern laundry facility.

Each housing facility provides the student with a recreational lounge area. One of the most frequented is the common lounge separating Harrill-Dobson Halls.

Each housing facility has an information center at which students register when entering or leaving and at which visitors may acquire information about residents.

Each day students leave housing areas to attend their classes. This particular day the stroll between housing and the classroom was hampered by icy conditions.

Life in campus housing begins for the student when he makes application for one of the numerous facilities available. Each year housing facilities are filled, so early application gives greater freedom for specific selection.

Not all dormitory life is centered within since students are provided comfortable seating facilities near each dormitory.

Life in campus housing has one advantage not afforded the commuter, that of becoming well-acquainted with classmates who share living quarters and housing facilities.

. . . NUMEROUS INDIVIDUALS . . .

. . . enthusiasm . . .

. . . relief . . .

. . . self-expression . . .

. . . boredom and curiosity . . .

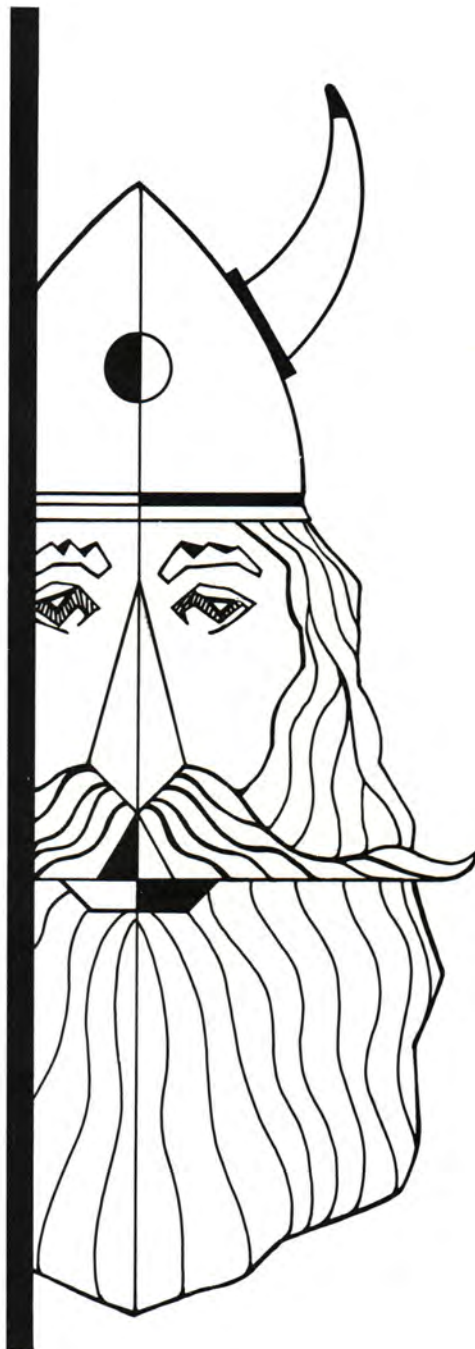

. . . AND GRADUATION.

If a student's ultimate goal is graduation, he can complete an Associate of Arts Degree in numerous fields of study. His credit hours will transfer to any college or university toward completion of his Bachelor Degree.

Enrollment fun.

Good fellowship and fun are two essentials for a complete college education.

A breather between classes or after a busy day is welcomed by most students.

Students gather at the football field for the introduction of the squad and a pep rally.

Where do I go from here, to the student union or to my next class?

Changing or withdrawing from a class, sometimes a hazardous procedure, requires several visits and numerous signatures.

The Student Senate members, hosted by Dr. and Mrs. Creech, enjoy refreshments after the meeting.

CAMPUS CASUALS

What a long speech!

Hurry! Hurry!

Watch that flame!

Where's my paper?

Mouth, please open.

What sweet sounds!

Where's the towel?

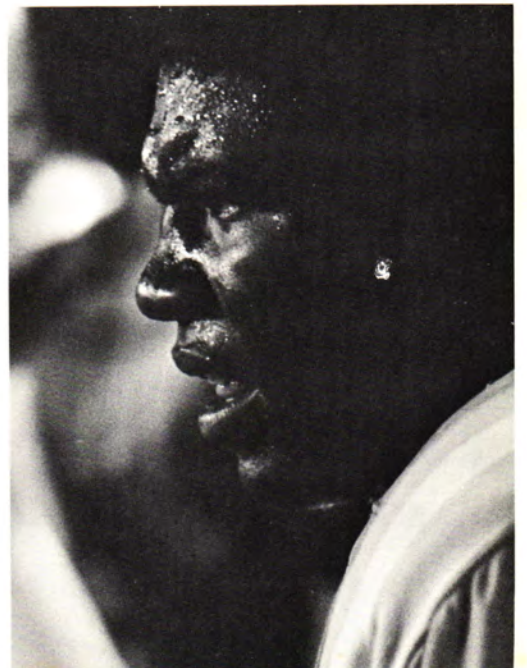

Would you believe . . .

Charles Angle, not here!

Who's next, please?

What do you want?

That bad!

What a day!

Gravy?

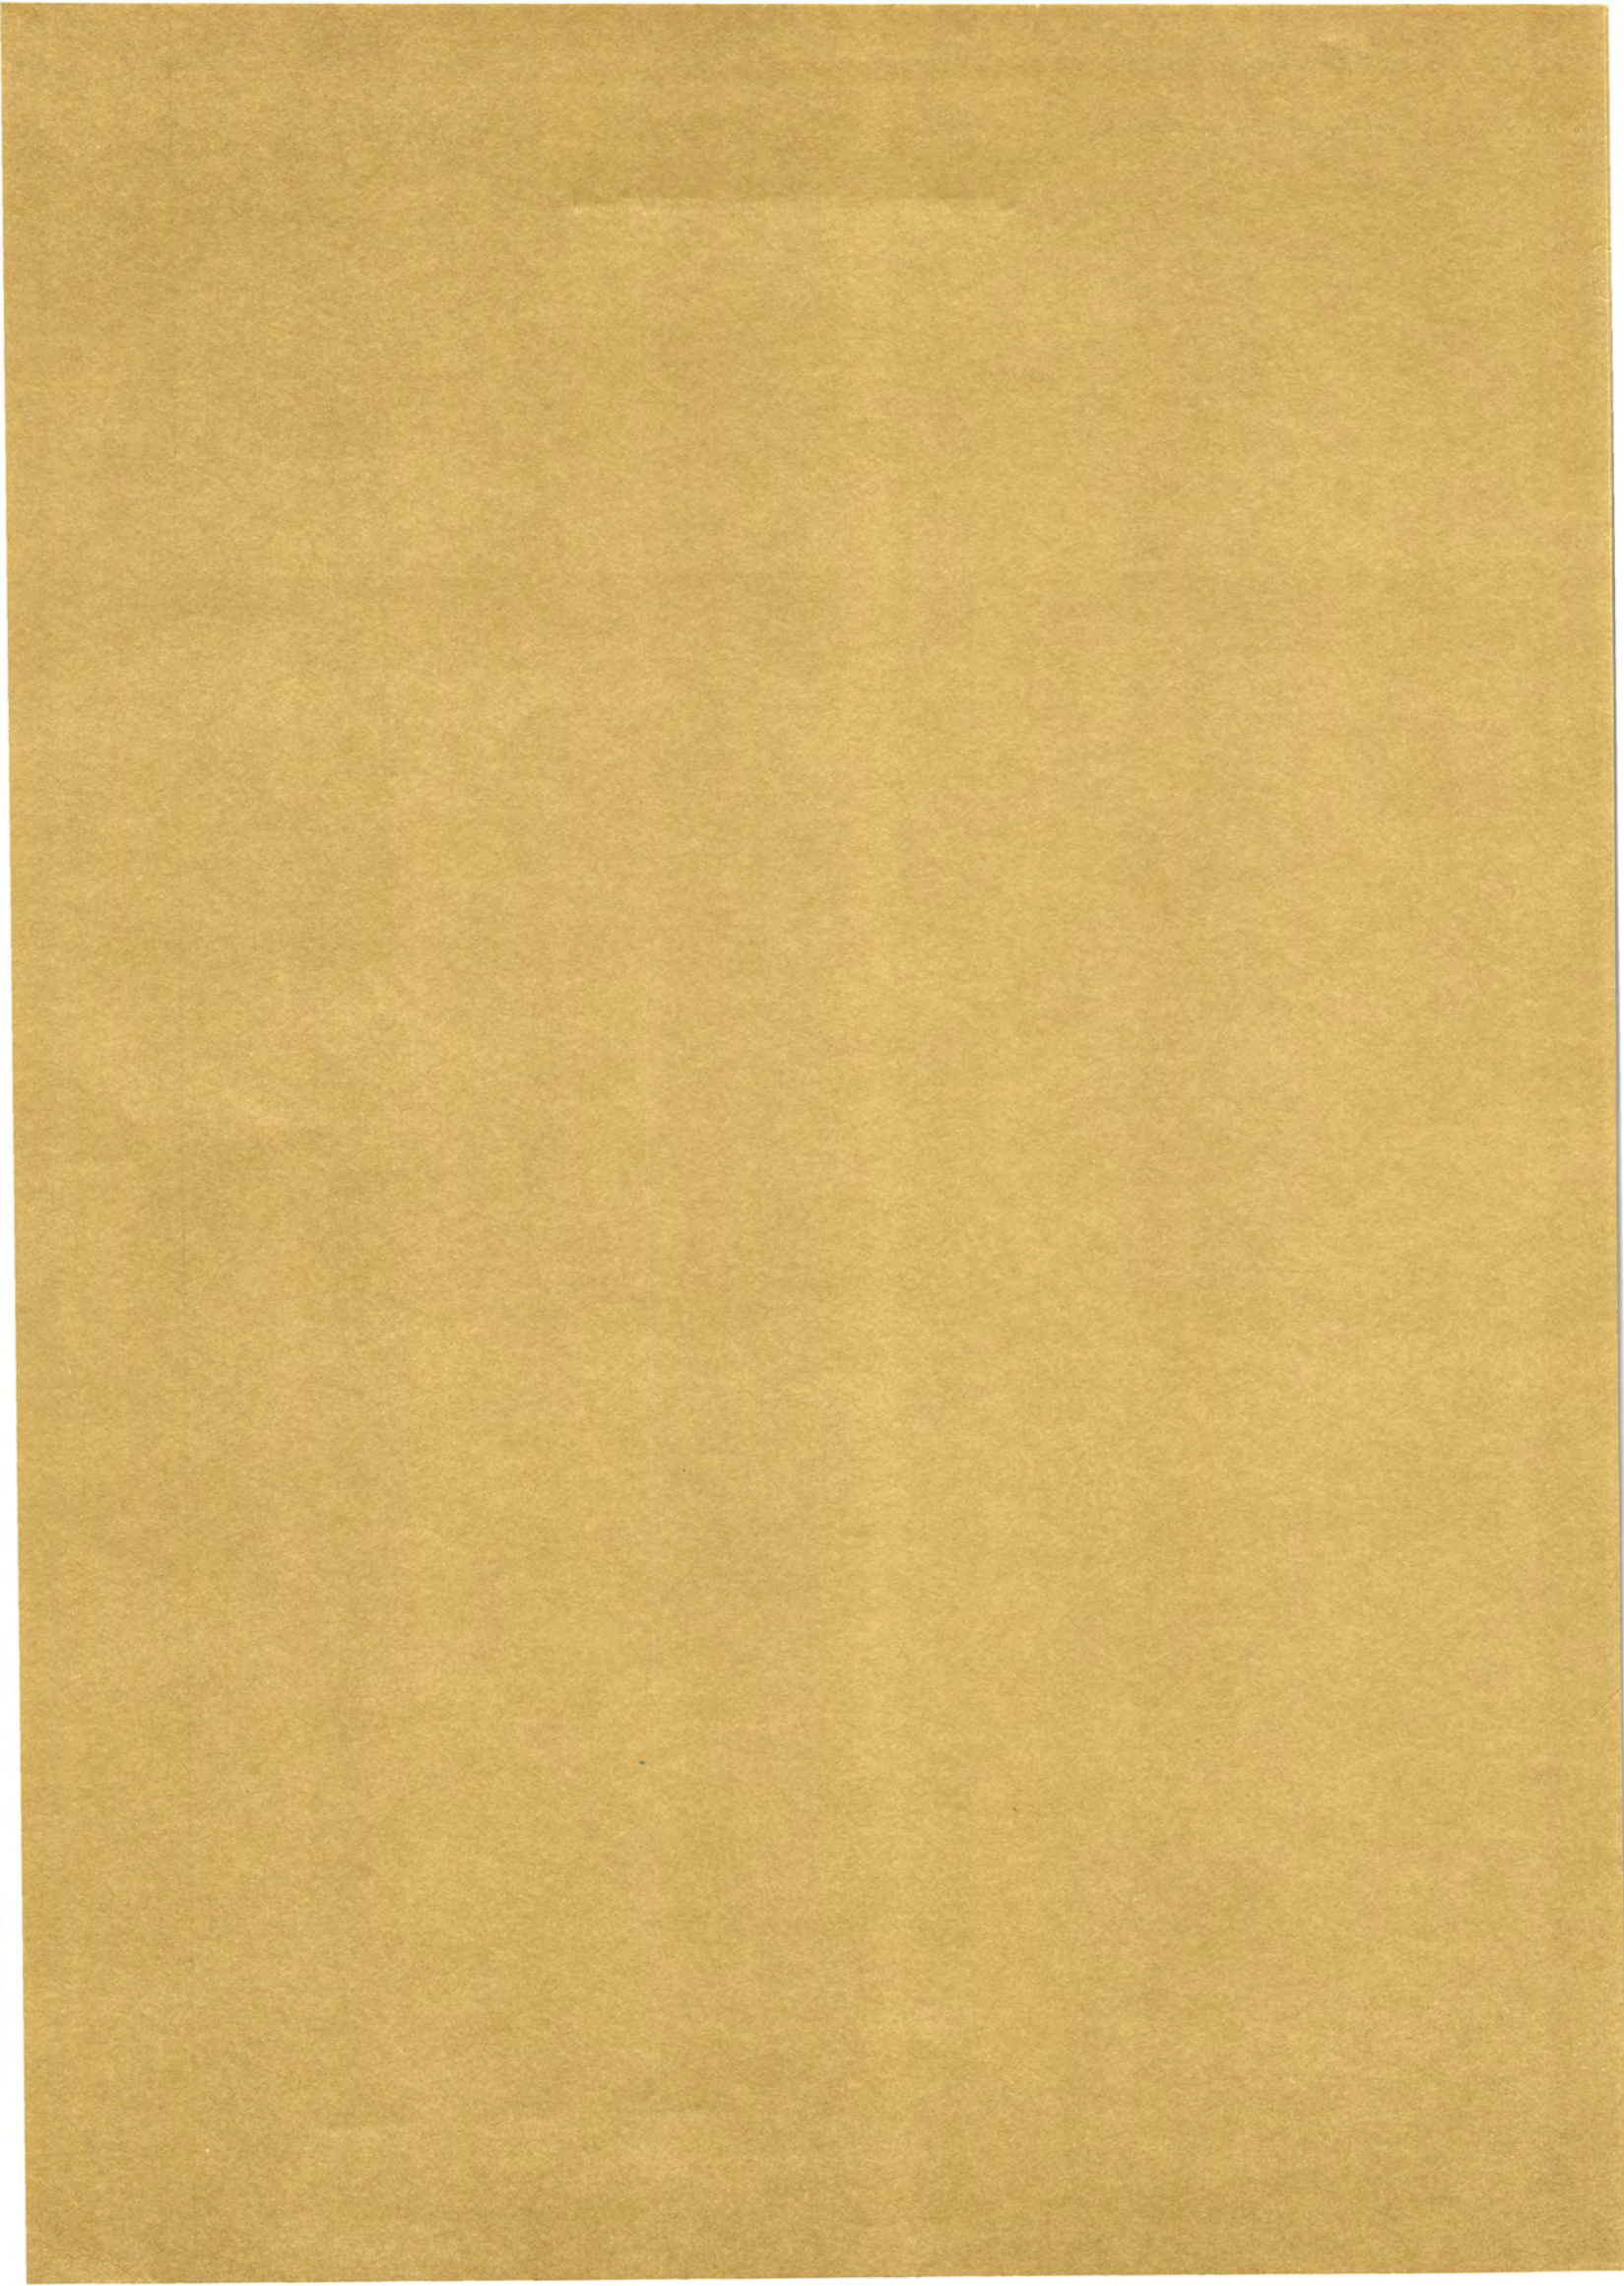

Your move!

No class!

Please.

NEO A&M College Archive Collection

The Viking – the NEO A&M College Yearbook

Digital copies of The Viking, Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College's annual yearbook, are available in .pdf format on the NEO website for non-commercial purposes only. Scans were created using the best available editions; where stains, color-fading, and contributed marks (usually signatures) were visible on the original they also appear in the digital copy. The edge of some pages in oversized editions may be partially lost due to width limitations on the scanning bed. NEO yearbook editions that do not appear on the website are not part of the collection at present. If you would like to donate a yearbook, please contact the NEO Library.
