Filing Begins Monday For Senate Seats

Filing begins Monday at 8 a.m. and will close Friday at 4 p.m. for students wishing to run for Senate office for the spring semester, according to Dr. Charles Angle, dean of student affairs. Offices are president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, and two senators at large. Students must sign in the office of student affairs, Library-Administration Building room 211, to officially announce their candidacy.

Campaign speeches will be delivered at a general assembly, Wednesday, Feb. 3 at 10 a.m. Elections will begin that afternoon in the Student Union. Students must possess their identification card to vote.

Death Claims Norse Cager, Nathan Vaughan

Norsemen basketballers, students, and faculty were stunned at learning of the sudden, unexpected death of Nathan Vaughan, sophomore forward for the Norsemen.

Vaughan, 19 was found dead in bed at his home in Pittsburg, Okla., near McAlester, Saturday, Jan. 2.

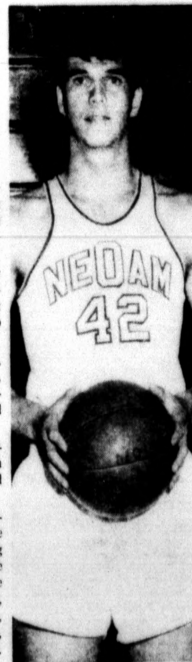

The 6'3", 1969 All-Stater at McAlester H. S. had an arthritic condition and had been hampered by back trouble since his sophomore year in high school.

Vaughan was respected greatly by Coach Cletus Green and teammates for the sufferings he went through on the hardwoods to achieve success.

He made the starting lineup, Dec. 19 at Independence, Kan., but had served mainly as a reserve forward for the "Blue and Gold".

Survivors included are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Vaughan of the home, three sisters, and two grandparents.

Funeral services were in McAlester's Charney Funeral Home and burial was in the Pittsburg cemetery. Representing the Norsemen at the funeral were Green, assistant coach Al Moffatt, Wayne Crossway, Bob Kemp, Bruce Hobgood, Eugene McCarty, and team manager, Bob Taul. McCarty was Vaughan's roommate.

Letter To The Editor An NEO Sports Car Club?

Seeing as how there are a number of "active" clubs on campus, that is, clubs who offer selected memberships and dues and another card for your wallet, but which rarely, if ever, do anything, I would like to start a new club, with selected membership, without, however, dues, cards, and photographs in the local newspapers or even the college yearbook. In fact, this club may join the ranks of those who do nothing and may end up a club with a name only.

I've noticed that there are a number of sporty-type cars on campus, namely Fiat Spiders, the glorious Bug from the old country, and numerous Datsuns and Toyota Sedans with fat tires (or at least wide track spacers) and even a Volvo or two.

With exceptions to the Fiat, none are true sports cars, although the hot Japanese-car owners may think so. There are, Heaven forbid, some people who think their Detroit wonders are sporty cars. With real, live, non-functional scoops and stripes and traction problems, these Pony cars aren't sports cars.

At any rate, cars and sports cars notwithstanding, many of our drivers are sporty types, and maybe even enthusiasts who might like to join a club with no dues, no cards, probably no activities, and most likely no name.

On any given Saturday the pseudo members of this pseudo club might like to get together for a caravan drive to the lake to Noel, Mo., or even to the regions north where the legal age becomes lower. Upon arrival, at who knows where, a wax-in might be fun and needed by winter weather and complacent elbows. Someone might even bring along something to eat and/or drink.

At least we could make an attempt to, as President Nixon attempted to do, bring us all together in the form of a mutual interest in high or low performance, conversation concerning environment, locating hard-to-find parts for our foreign friends and maybe even organizing an amateur rally out in the sticks.

It might be fun and who knows, a sporty car club, with no sport cars, might even become active to the extent that some of the other clubs may look at their minutes and wonder if they have forgotten to do anything.

I can see it now, the NEO Sporty Car Club With No Sports Cars (NEOSCCWNSC) in the Homecoming parade, shinning and rumbling down main street, slick little Fiats, wide-track Datsuns and spoiled Toyotas backed up with Detroit Pony cars with non-functional hood scoops and stripes and traction problems, numerous Volkswagens and maybe even a Volvo or two, complete with STP stickers for that "extra fast start."

If anybody is interested, forget it.

Nursing Program Provides For A Much Healthier Future

Due to the national shortage of nursing personnel, demand for Licensed Practical Nurses far exceeds available supply. Northeastern Oklahoma A&M has determined to do something about the problem.

In 1964, NEO initiated its Vocational School of Practical Nursing in cooperation with the State Board of Vocational Education. Since that time, expansion has meant increasing both quality of instruction and quantity of students completing the program.

Consisting of two regular semesters and a summer session, the LPN program is 52 weeks in length with new classes beginning in the fall. Applicants must present evidence of a sincere interest in nursing, at least a 10th grade education or satisfactory G. E. D. score, and physical and emotional health.

Key objective of NEO's program is to teach Practical Nursing to disadvantaged students through use of a modified curriculum plan based on special needs of students and to provide a supply source of qualified practical nurses to meet the ever-growing demand for trained personnel. Graduates are eligible to write the State Board Examination, successful completion of which leads to licensure as a practical nurse.

Mrs. Dorothy Hall, R.N., coordinator for NEO's nursing program, says that many students are capable of going into professional nursing but wish to complete their education.

Final goal of NEO's program is to prepare a graduate who will be simple nursing situations, under supervision of a professional nurse or physician, be capable of giving competent, effective, safe nursing care to patients of all ages. In more complex situations, graduates will be capable of function as assistants to professional nurses or physicians.

Mrs. Hall explained the current class of 41 students is divided into two groups. One half of the class of 38 students is divided into seven students each who receive clinical experience at three institutions. The college contracts with Miami Baptist Hospital, Miami Nursing Home and St. John's Medical Center in Joplin for use of clinical facilities for students laboratory experience.

The remaining half of the class is divided into three lab groups who practice nursing skills in the college LPN laboratory. Students later perform these skills in Clinical areas.

Much of the equipment in NEO's skills laboratory is supplied by a grant awarded from Oklahoma State Board of Vocational-Technical Education. To date a total of $37,000 of a requested $104,199.80 grant to cover a three-year period has been received by the college. Begun January 15, 1970, the three-year period will extend through January 13, 1973.

Money from the grant allows for two instructors and a clerical lab assistant. Mrs. Betty Ippock fills one instructor's position; the other is unfilled. Other members of the nursing faculty are Mrs. Carol Morris, assistant coordinator, Mrs. Jeannie Eli and Mrs. Eulah Duncan, all registered nurses.

The grant also supplies modern equipment used in the skills laboratory such as movie projectors, single concept films, overhead transparency projectors, an adult croup tent, Gomeco suction machine, patient lift, commode chair and "Eva Manikan," a life-sized doll on which students learn nursing procedures before performing them on live patients.

NEO's school of practical nursing began with one faculty member and 14 students. Within the past three years the program has experienced a rapid spurt of growth. To date, 111 students have graduated. Mrs. Hall believes that over a three-year period a single class should reach a total of 99 students.

Employment opportunities are excellent and exist wherever there are people. LPN's are engaged in private duty in hospitals and homes, staff positions in hospitals, nursing homes, public health clinics, industry and doctors' offices, missionary fields and military services.

Nursing is not an exclusive women's profession. Male nurses are badly needed in hospitals and nursing homes, Mrs. Hall is quick to point out.

Both men and women between 18 and 45 who are seeking an education which will prepare them in a relatively short time to earn a living and involve them in a highly respected vocation should find the opportunity in practical nursing.

ARTHUR STOKES goes up for a shot in NEO's big 100-56 win over Westark.

Norse Win Two Of Three On Holiday Trips To Kansas

During the Christmas vacation period the Golden Norsemen captured a pair of victories and dropped one contest in action with Kansas roundballers to move to an 11-6 mark prior to second semester.

On Dec. 23 the Norse cages blasted Coffeyville 90-74 on the Red Ravens court. Big Edwyn Wakefield hit 26 points and hauled down 23 rebounds to pace the Norse. Backing him was John Williams with 22 tallies and 20 rebounds. Mel Hall hit for 20 points and Bob Kemp contributed 14 in the win.

Following the holidays the Norse swept past Dodge City 89-

73 on the Conquistadores court in opening action of the "traveling" junior college tournament, Friday, Jan. 8. Wakefield again paced the Norse with 24 tallies and set a single-game high of 24 rebounds during the game. Matt Blair connected for 16 points and was second in rebounding with 10.

The following night the tourney moved to Hutchinson's Sports Arena, site of the annual NJCAA national tournament scheduled for the climax to Juco roundball play.

In the closing action the Norsemen dropped a 100-82 decision to host Hutchinson Blue Dragons before 3,500 fans. Again it was Wakefield leading the scoring with 21 points.

It's Four Straight Wins For Livestock Judges At Denver!

Mary Griswold Top Individual

Winning is the name of the game at NEO not only in athletic events but also for members of the college Livestock Judging Team.

For the fourth consecutive year the NEO judges captured the number one ranking at the National Western Stock Show in Denver, Colorado. In addition to the team trophy, the college again brought home the High Individual trophy as the only female member of the squad swept the field to score 926 points.

Mary Griswold, 1970 graduate of Sand Springs High School, took the title of best judge in the junior college division. She ranked first in sheep judging, third in horses and sixth in beef cattle.

The freshman coed at NEO is campus Aggie Princess, elected by fellow students of the agriculture division, a member of the Norse Stars and on the Dean's List. In August, 1970, she won the title of Best Angus Showman in North America over contestants from 40 states and Canada during the "National Angus Futurity" show in Lexington, Kentucky.

Coach of this year's squad is Jary Douglas, a former member of the NEO Livestock Judging Team, in his second year on the college faculty. He pointed out that the NEO team scored more points than all but one of the teams competing in the University division.

Taking the top award in the latter division was Kansas State University team, coached by Dr. Bill Ables, also a former team member and coach of the NEO Livestock Judging Team.

Also counting heavily in the team trophy for the group was Tom Coyle, sophomore from Sperry, who came in third in the standings, and Kent Houston, Altamont, Kans. sophomore, who placed fifth. Coyle placed first in judging swine and beef cattle.

Other team members and alternate judges making the trip to Denver to compete against 13 other colleges were Tim Vanover, Vinita; Larry Stamper, Locust Grove; Galen Fink, Fort Scott, Kans., and Dale Moeller, Manning, Iowa.

Next intercollegiate competition for NEO will be at Fort Worth, Texas, on February 6 and then in Houston, Texas, on March 6.

Even after winning at Denver, team members are not assured a place on the squad chosen for the Texas shows. Competition continues open as Douglas maintains the winning tradition at NEO by conducting workouts constantly and selecting the best performers for the trips.

Aggies Keep Winning And Winning and...

By Larry Stamper

On display in Cunningham Hall are 160 trophies and plaques won by the college livestock judging teams since 1948.

Serving as inspiration for candidates of this year's teams, the awards include 41 from Southwestern Exposition in Fort Worth, 27 from the Houston Livestock Exposition, 22 from the National Western in Denver, and numerous others from intercollegiate contests of regional and state-wide competition.

The first livestock judging team at NEO entered competition in 1948 with Harry Synar as coach. Now the chairman of the Agriculture division, Synar continued coaching the livestock judging teams until 1964.

The winning tradition established by Synar has been continued by his students who returned to their alma mater to assume responsibilities for the NEO teams.

First of the alumni to return was Bill Ables, who served as coach from 1965 to 1967. Later Ables went to the University of Kentucky where he coached the livestock judging team to the International championship at Chicago while completing work on his Ph.D. At the present time, he is teaching at Kansas State University.

Another former judging team member, Neil Burcham, returned to NEO to coach from 1967-1969. He is now assistant professor of animal science and judging team coach at New Mexico State University at Las Cruces, N.M.

Douglas was a member of Ables' championship teams prior to completing his B.S. degree at Oklahoma State. He stated his coaching at NEO with the 1970 season, finishing first at Denver and Fort Worth. His team took second place at the Fort Worth Livestock Exposition.

At NEO, the winning tradition applies not only to the intercollegiate athletic squads, but to the livestock judging teams as well.

OC Eagles Shot Down By Golden Gunners, 100-79

by Jack Duncan

Despite a shaky start and a 31 point effort by Oklahoma City's Dale Oliver, the Norsemen laced the Eagles, 100-79, last Thursday in the fieldhouse before a dull, less-than-capacity crowd.

The key factor in the victory was the superb defensive job by Norsemen Edwyn Wakefield on the conference's leading scorer, Joe Crisp. OC's 6'3" leaper scored just 11 points, 17 below his average, before fouling out in the second half.

NEO shot at a 50 per cent clip from the field, the best this season, according to Bob Taul, manager-statistician. John Williams led Norsemen scorers with 21, 16 in the first half, before fouling out.

NEO jumped to a lead of 8-2 on two inside baskets by Williams and Art Stokes two jumpers. But then bad passes plagued the Norse and the Eagles tied the score at nine on a 10-g jumper by Crisp at the 15:50 mark.

They forged ahead, 16-11 on Oliver's two 25-footers, but the Norse tied it again at 16 on buckets by Wakefield and Williams. NEO took the lead they never relinquished on a free throw by Melvin Hall with 11:22 showing in the first half.

At the 4:49 mark, Wakefield hit a long jumper and was fouled. He converted the free shot for a 12 point lead, largest of the first half. OC cut it to five, 41-36 as Mike Jordan scored a three-point play with two minutes remaining but Stokes and Wakefield built up the margin once again. Stoke's beautiful left-handed hook made it, 51-40. Halftime score was 52-41.

Eugene McCarty (24) played a key role in the 100-79 win over Okla. City with his speed and ball handling. Here, he dribbles past Eagle, Bob Snyder.

NEO opened strong in the second half and with 16:42 left in the game, Stoke's jumper made the score 63-42.

From then on, Coach Cletus Green substituted freely. James DeGrate came off the bench to score 17 points. Matt Blair performed well on defense with two blockey shuts to his credit.

The largest lead of the game was achieved in the last 35 seconds on a corner shot by reserve, Bruce Hobgood. All Norsemen played except Larry Harris.

Green lauded starting guard Eugene McCarty, who finished with eight points, for "his fine floor game and defense. He made our offense go."

Wakefield finished with 19 points and 18 rebounds while Williams pulled down 15 caroms. NEO finished with 61 rebounds. For the second time this season, the Norsemen passed the century mark while making 23 turnovers.

Norse Smash Westark; Lose At Seminole 76-72

Exploding for 60 points in the second half, the Golden Norsemen raced to a 100-56 victory over Westark Junior college in Fort Smith, Ark., Jan. 16.

Leading by a single tally, 40-39, at intermission, the Norse began hitting with consistency in the second period to win easily. Substitutes Larry Harris and Bruce Hobgood set the pace for the final period as the Blue and Gold ran the Lions ragged.

For Coach Cletus Green's charges it was victory number four in Bi-State Conference play against a single loss, leaving them behind Bacone and Seminole in the standings.

Leading the scorers was Edwyn Wakefield with 26 points, and Harris with 22 tallies. Sweeping the boards consistently, John Williams finished the evening's play with 23 rebounds for the Norse.

Suffering their first conference loss of the season, NEO's basketballers dropped a 76-72 decision to Seminole JC on the road Jan. 11. The defeat dropped the Golden Norsemen to 2-1 in Bi-State standings.

John Williams hit for 19 points to pace the Big Blue's scoring and also led in rebounds with 17 to play a strong defensive game. Others in double figures for the Norse were Ed Wakefield with 15, and Mel Hall with 17 points.

At halftime NEO held a 37-34 advantage but Seminole moved ahead after four minutes play in the last half.

Bacone of Muskogee remains the only undefeated conference squad, with league competition beginning to pick up steam after semester break. The two top teams will be included in Region II Tournament play on the way to the national meet in Hutchinson, Kansas, climaxing the roundball season.

Track Workouts Underway; First Meet January 30

By Don Newcomb

Don Rominger, head track coach, says with new-found strength in the hurdles and weights this years team will once again be strong contenders for conference champs.

Regular workouts began Jan. 18. With 12 regular season meets and one indoor, the freshman-dominated team can expect valuable points from one of the strongest mile relays in current juco competition.

At the Oklahoma City Indoor, Jan. 30, Rominger will take only the men he believes can keep up with the competition.

While spreading talent thin in the field events, this team will have good depth in the distance corps.

May 6, Shawnee will host the NJCAA Region II meet. The Norse should only have to stop Eastern's powerful distance men to emerge as team champs. This is how the schedule shapes up.

NEO Students Help With High School Cage Tourney

Basketball action will be available in abundance this weekend as Northeastern A&M hosts the 28th annual Invitational High School Tournament.

Many NEO students and staff members are involved in various aspects of the three-day tourney which draws more competitors than any other high school roundball tourney in the United States.

Some 67 teams have indicated they will be involved in the action which involves the college gym, Miami Civic Center, and gyms at both the high school and Will Rogers Junior High School here.

In addition to work opportunities for college students, the tourney offers the chance to see former school mates as the high schoolers invade the campus.
