Gwen Taylor, as Sabina and Bob Bethell, as Mr. Antrobus try a little horse play in a scene from "The Skin Of Our Teeth."

"Skin Of Our Teeth" To Play Thur. Fri. Sat.

By Ruth Ann Wolf and June Johnson

In order to give a preview of the first Drama Club production of the year, we attended the final dress rehearsal of "The Skin Of Our Teeth." In this short review we hope to give you a student's point of view of the play.

"The Skin Of Our Teeth", by Thornton Wilder, is a comedy about George Antrobus, his wife and two children, and their maid Sabina. The Antrobus family represents all families from Adam and Eve to the present time. They survive the ice age, a dozen wars, and as many depressions. Alternately bewitched, befuddled, and becalmed, they are the stuff of which heroes are made.

Remarkably professional portrayals were given by several members of the cast. Gwen Taylor, as Sabina, practically carried the whole play. Her performance showed much concentration and effort and paid off in a job very well done. Mr. and Mrs. Antrobus were played extremely well by Bob Bethell and Jeanne Burger.

Smaller roles were played effectively by Pat Melody, as the Fortune Teller, and Richard Kelton in numerous roles.

The play was different in that several devices were used to make it more enjoyable.

We urge you to pay attention to the music preceding each act, especially before the third act. Players situated in the audience, special lighting effects, picture slides, and good scenery, all added to the interest of the play.

The costumes, especially in the second act, were very colorful and appropriate.

The play itself, directed by Bruce Owen head of the speech department, is different from the usual "run of the mill" play. It is not so much a running story as a series of related events.

Since winning the Pulitzer Prize in the early '40's, "The Skin Of Our Teeth" has become a favorite with play-goers everywhere.

Enrollment Figures Set A New High At Northeastern Oklahoma A&M

1,392 is the new enrollment figure for Northeastern Okla. A&M. This is an increase of 125 over last year's figure of 1,267 which was an all-time high.

Represented are 15 nations with a total of 44 International Students 17 American states, and 3 counties. Ottawa county has the largest number 596; Tulsa, 169; Craig, 83; Wichita, 39; and Mayes, 35.

Following an old tradition males outnumber females almost 2 to 1. The exact figures are 927 boys and 465 girls.

To further break down the total figure, the college has an even thousand daytime students, 392 students enrolled in night classes, and 90 men and women attending college under the Manpower Training Act.

"These are not to be confused with the people attending last year under the Area Redevelopment Act. They were from all over the state, these are men and women from our own community," said Dr. Carter.

This includes 25 who are training to be legal secretaries 25 prospective medical secretaries, 20 studying welding and another 20 in machine shop.

To qualify for government assistance under this Act one must be out of work, probably because of automation or lack of training in their field's new methods. Then they must be selected from 300 applicants by interviews and aptitude tests.

To accommodate these new students, the school has added three new instructors, Jack Rusher, Leonard Smith, and Edwina Richison, Rusher and Miss Richison teach some commercial courses, & Smith machine shop.

Among the trainees are: George Hensley, a 56 year old man who was injured five years ago, and able to work very little of that time. He is now studying welding to support his two children. When asked if the school work was hard he said, "Lord, you don't know how hard it is! I didn't do so well on the 9 weeks test, but my kids aren't going to know about that."

Archie Ratzlaff, a welder at Crane who is now learning some new techniques in aluminum welding. He said that this would increase tremendously the jobs open to him.

Thanksgiving Vacation Will Begin At Noon On Wednesday, Nov. 21

VACATION, four days of it, finds Northeastern Okla. A&M humming with preparations for the Thanksgiving holiday which starts at noon Wednesday.

For those not planning to go home for their holiday there will be a special dinner on Tuesday, Nov. 20 at the regular time. Also, a semi-formal dance will be held on the same night in the ballroom of the Carter Student Union. It is to be sponsored by the Phi Theta Kappa. An admission of .75c per couple and .75c stag will be charged.

The International Students who have not made other plans for their holiday have been invited to the homes of chemistry instructor, Frank Cunningham and language instructor Doris Burnes.

Cunningham who is following a long established personal tradition, will have turkey dinner with all the trimmings for about a dozen International Students.

Mrs. Burnes requests that all International Students who have not made other plans please see her so hat her dinner plans can be made.

Classes will resume Monday following Thanksgiving.

Debaters Invited to Contest in 7 States

"Resolved that all uncommunitistic nations should establish an economic community" is the Debate proposition for this year, according to Mr. John Hazleton, speech instructor at Northeastern Okla. A&M college, Miami.

The debate team has been honored with invitations to attend contests in Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, California, and various Civic Clubs in Miami. They will attend a contest in Ada, Oklahoma, November 29-31.

The team has set up various goals which they hope to obtain this year.

They hope (1) to gain further developed speaking ability, (2) to stimulate thinking, and (3) to discover current facts.

Not only do they do debate work, but they also participate in various other speech activities Oral interpretation, oratory, extemporaneous speaking, story telling, manuscript reading, and after dinner speeches are some of the other fields of speech which they explore.

Meetings of the Debate Club are every Wednesday at 2:00 and Monday at 7:00. "Anyone interested is invited to join us; all we ask in return is a little hard work," says speech instructor John Hazleton.

Gene Crockett is Jr. College Dir.

Gene Crockett, sports editor of the Norse Wind, was elected Junior College Director of the Oklahoma Collegiate Press Association during a convention held October 26 and 27 at Oklahoma State University, stillwater.

The O.C.P.A. is sponsored by O.S.U.'s School of Journalism and Communications under direction of Charles L. Allen. The conference began with a general assembly at 9:30 Friday morning, followed by classes on various types of journalistic writing. A noon luncheon was held at 12:00 with Dr. Robert W. MacVicar, Dean of the Graduate School and Vice-President for academic affairs, as the speaker.

Following the luncheon guided tours of the Communications Building and the newspaper print shop were provided by Dr. Allen.

The first day of the conference was climaxed with a banquet held in the Student Union. The Speaker was John E. Heaney, Public Relations Manager of North American Aviation, Inc.

Business Club To Hold Dec. Dance

A semi-formal Christmas dance is to be held by the Business Club December 15, four days before the Christmas holidays start. All students are invited. There is an admission of $1.00 per couple and $1.00 stag. Business Club members and their dates are admitted free.

The dance is to be held in the Student Union ballroom from 9:00 until 12:00 p.m. The Business Club is planning on having either a band from Tulsa or a band from Pittsburg, says Business Club President, Buddy Vernetti.

Phi Theta Kappa Delegates Chorus To Sing from Four States To Convene At Vinita School

The Phi Theta Kappa will be the co-host, along with the Joplin Junior College to the area convention Monday, November 18. The morning program will be held in Joplin and the evening program in Miami.

Delegates from the four-state area of Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, and Arkansas will attend and the national officers of the Phi Theta Kappa will be featured as special guests.

The convention will begin Monday morning with the registration at 8:00. At 10:00 there will be an assembly of the delegates with the presidents of chapters and national officers as platform guests. Speeches will be given by Mrs. Margaret Mosal, Executive Secretary and Carlos Moore, National President.

The workshops begin at 11:00 with the discussions of (1) the status of Phi Theta Kappa (2) the national study program (3) service activities (4) money raising projects and (5) Phi Theta Kappa awards.

Luncheon will be in the Supper Club room of the Bob Cummings Motel in Joplin. Workshop reports and talks by the national officers will be given.

The group will be in Miami at 6:30 for the joint initiation of the new members of both Northeastern A&M and Joplin Junior College. At 7:00 a banquet will be served in the Carter Student Union.

AGGIE DAY TURKEY SHOOT

The Aggies sponsored a turkey shoot November 10 at the college farm, and are planning on another one November 17 at the same location.

The purpose of these shoots is to raise a portion of $1200 needed for financing the Aggies at their 14th annual Agricultural Achievement Day held on the second Saturday in April.

Plans For Science Fair Are Discussed

Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College, in cooperation with the Oklahoma Junior Academy of Science, conducted a seminar Saturday November 10, in the Life Science Building. The purpose of the seminar is to bring together college professors, high school teachers and selected superior students to explore the possibilities of science and mathematics projects for students as supplemental activities in support of their regular studies, and if the student desires, entry of the project in a science fair.

Meetings to discuss various phases of scientific projects and the rules and regulations of science fairs and the clarification of science papers were also held.

Last year's Saturday Science Seminars, held concurrently throughout the state, proved to be of incalculable assistance.

Ed Edmondson Talks at Assembly

Congressman Ed Edmondson spoke before an audience of Northeastern Okla. A&M students Tuesday, Oct. 30th. Edmondson gave the audience his views on the world situation.

Before Congressman Edmondson's speech, a program was presented by Northeastern Oklahoma A&M's college choir. Some of the highlights of the program were the singing of "Maria" by Bob Bethell, Tulsa and "I Feel Pretty" sung by Ruth Hamlin, Quapaw, and danced to by Kay Snyder, Miami. Richard Kelton, Miami, and Gwen Taylor, Tulsa, along with the choir presented a reading and singing arrangement, "God's Trombones".

Male and female vocal ensembles also entertained.

The next performance of the mixed chorus will be at the Vinita High School at 7:30, Nov. 19. The chorus, composed of 40 girls and 22 boys received wide acceptance at each of their programs. Kenneth Richards directs the group.

A rendition of "God's Trombones" was given at the OEA teacher's meeting in Oklahoma City and was highly praised by those who attended.

Gwen Taylor and Richard Kelton, exceptionally good in dramatics, have been accompanying the chorus with the readings that go with "God's Trombones."

Accompanying the chorus on the organ is Martha Payton from Miami with Mary Ann Hayes from Grove on the piano.

Their first performance was for the Board of Regents at NEO, then at the OEA meeting in Oklahoma City to be followed by a performance for Congressman Ed Edmondson at an all college assembly on campus.

Editorial

What are the effects of a college, on its town, community, state. If it were a large state university or an Ivy league school one might well even expect them to be world wide. However, a former Northeastern Okla. A&M student Clayton Moore is proving that a small junior college can also reach beyond the United States. For Clayton, who graduated last year, is now establishing a mission in Nogalas, Mexico. Clayton was an education major but learned Spanish last year.

Clayton, who was a Free Will Baptist Minister in Picher, first came in contact with the Mexican people on a language trip to Mexico last year. He saw small undernourished children begging to shine your shoes or sell you a package of gum.

This summer he, his wife, and two daughters returned. In a letter to Doris Burnes, Clayton reported that many of the people he came into contact with had little but faith to sustain them. Many times houses have two or three walls made of cardboard. Often gathering, flattening then selling tin cans to build houses with is a regular profession. Often two or three families huddle together for warmth.

Clayton's church in Picher is doing a tremendous job in sending boxes of books, food, and clothing. But more help is needed. Already the Baptist Student Union is collecting clothing which can be sent free of charge to the mission. May we urge you to contribute?

'ODIN'

A.F. R.O.T.C Military Ball
Held At The Civic Center

The God of war, culture and the dead — is ODIN the Norsemen's new mascot, which is portrayed by Steve Moody, a business major from Drumright, Oklahoma. Odin is also the God of art — and is indeed a work of art created by sophomores Larry Launer and Paul Holmes under

Last Saturday evening, climaxed a great deal of work and anticipation as the AFROTC Military Ball was held in the Miami Civic Center auditorium from 8:30 until midnight.

AFROTC cadets, their dates and faculty guests, spent the evening dancing to music provided by Carl Barnett and his band, the Metrotones, from Tulsa. Attendance was estimated at well over 400.

The work of the decorations committee was evident in a colorful ceiling of parachute canopies, and in a wishing well which occupied the center of the dance floor. Other committees made available a hat-check service, and free refreshments to cadets and their dates.

During the course of the evening a brief welcoming speech was given by the Cadet Group Com. D. Rhodes of Miami. Following the welcome, a large bouquet of roses was presented to Miss Sherry George, a sophomore from Afton, who is the AFROTC queen for this year. Miss George then thanked the Cadet Corps for electing her as its queen.

A second military ball has been scheduled for next semester, and has been designated as an awards ball. At that time, awards will be presented to sophomore and freshman cadets, based upon leadership qualities on campus, both in ROTC and on academic achievements.

Two medals and one award will be presented to outstanding cadets by Major Arch H. Layman, Captain Rodney Boaz and Captain Robert Hayes, sponsors and instructors of Air Science at the college.

the direction of Mrs. Kathryn Paige of the art department.

Odin, a student council project, made his first appearance on the Norsemen's home field at the Homecoming game.

The head of Odin, made of paper mache is mounted on a metal frame which was created by Alvin Brown, sophomore.

The medals consist of the Chicago Tribune award—one gold, which will go to a sophomore cadet, and one silver medal, to a freshman. In order to qualify for the medals the cadet must have military achievement, high scholastic achievement, strong moral character and must express a sustained desire for an Air Force commission.

The Air Force Times Award of Merit will be presented to the man who has demonstrated outstanding ability and initiative as a cadet and distinguished himself in bringing constructive attention to the ROTC.

Two Cultures
Meet In Marriage

"If Houshang and I can be happy together, I don't see why the rest of the world can't, at least, get along. After all they just have to be civil," said Kathryn Allahyari. Both she and her husband are students at Northeastern Okla. A&M.

Kathryn Hall, Ogden, Utah, and Houshang Allahyari an Electrical Engineering Major from Tehran, Iran, were married in Washington D. C. almost a year ago. Both were attending Georgetown University. Kathryn's roommate was a Persian girl who introduced the two of them.

"Washington is a wonderful place for the International Student," she continued. "They're invited home for week ends and holidays by the American students. They are included at parties. Everything which means social acceptance. Of course, Washingtonians are used to seeing people from other lands."

Linda Wallace Is Delegate To National 4-H Club Congress

An N.E.O. A&M 4-H girl will be one of Oklahoma's 33 delegates to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago Nov. 25-29.

She is Linda Ann Wallace of Lenapah, a state winner in the 4-H home economics program in the recent statewide judging of 4-H Club record books. Her trip to the annual national meeting on the nation's most outstanding 4-H members will be sponsored by Montgomery Ward.

EDUCATIONAL AFFAIRS
The congress will be a round of banquets, educational events parties and tours of points of interest in the Chicago area. General theme of the 1962 congress is "Citizenship in Action." The aim of the meeting, program planners say, is "to have every delegate take home a commitment to take action as a more responsible citizen."

Linda's record shows that she has twice placed as grand champion of the Nowata County 4-H dress review, in 1961 and 1962, and that she has placed high in state wide competition in electric and bread demonstrations.

She has been awarded 12 county medals and last year was a state winner in the 4-H citizenship program, winning a $200 scholarship.

Linda has worked as a junior 4-H leader for five years and has held numerous offices in 4-H, including those of secretary and song leader in the northeast district 4-H organization.

Now a college freshman, Linda admits that she has always tried to work especially hard in the 4-H home economics projects.

The Oklahoma delegates, each a state winner and more than half potential national award winners, will leave from Oklahoma City by train Nov. 23 and return Dec. 1. Their stay in Chicago will be at the Congress headquarters, the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

In winning her trip, Linda built an outstanding 4-H record in many activities especially in home economics over nine years of membership.

In addition to her trip won in home economics, she placed first in the northeast district and state alternate in achievement, winning a $25 bond for her district placing and was named to the 4-H Hall of Fame blue award group.

It is from this group of the state's outstanding 4-Hs that the 1963 Hall of Fame boy and girl for Oklahoma will be chosen next spring.

Golden Norsemen Ends Season, 8-1-1

Norse Defeat Red Ravens 14-0

The Golden Norsemen finished out their 1962 football season by defeating the Red Ravens of Coffeyville, Kan. 14 to 0 at Robertson Field last Thursday night.

The Norsemen, ranking number 2 going into the game, blanked the Ravens for the first time this season. The Ravens, who were ranked number 3, going into this game, had only one loss, before they met the Norsemen, that loss was to Dodge City, 20 to 19.

Both the Norse and the Ravens held the number 1 spot in the dropped after their lone loss to Cameron, and the Ravens after their loss to Dodge City.

Larry McCoy scored the first touchdown for N.E.O. on a six yard run in the second quarter. The touchdown was set up by Barry Peck with a 35 yard run. Peck scored the final touchdown in the last period on a four yard dash. Foy McClung kicked both extra points for the Norsemen.

Sullivan Mills, a sophomore from Fort Worth, Tex. playing the "lonesome" halfback and one of the fastest and highest scoring juco players on the national scene this year, was asked how he felt about the Golden Norsemen, his word, "terrific."

Aggies Hold Annual Cookout

Forty Aggie's and their dates held their annual fall hamburger charcoal at the SY-CO Paradise Cabin on Grand Lake, Friday night, November 2.

Mr. Harry Synar, owner of the cabin, did the cooking for the group. Most of those attending remained inside and entertained themselves, as the weather was quite chilly.

Barry Peck, a sophomore halfback, plunges four yard in the final period in N.E.O. victory over the Red Ravens.

Movies Shown Wed. Nights

Good movies are shown every Wednesday night at 7 o'clock in the Little Theater. The movies are fairly recent ones and the cost is nothing for Northeastern Oklahoma A&M students. After the movies are over students can attend the mixer still being held in the Student Union, if they wish to do so.

Popcorn and popcorn balls are sold each Wednesday night at the movies by the Press Club.

Norsemen Only Loss To Cameron Cage Team Has Hustle

Northeastern A&M's perfect record was clipped by the Cameron Aggies 39 to 6, in frosty football weather before a homecoming crowd of 7,000, at Lawton, Saturday, Nov. 3.

The Aggies scored first, after the Norsemen fumbled a punt on the 27, with Tommy Bell, 185 lb. fullback, covering the distance in one play. Extra point kicked by Russell Fremins.

The Norsemen scored next with 11 seconds left in the first quarter, when Foy McClung passed to halfback Barry Peck for 15 yards. McClung's extra point failed, making the score 7 to 6 until the third period.

Parson's scored from two yards out making the score 13 to 6 at the end of the third period.

Quarter back, Jim Wiginton scored on a keeper from the one and Fremin ran the extra point for a 20 to 6 lead as the fourth quarter was just 24 seconds old.

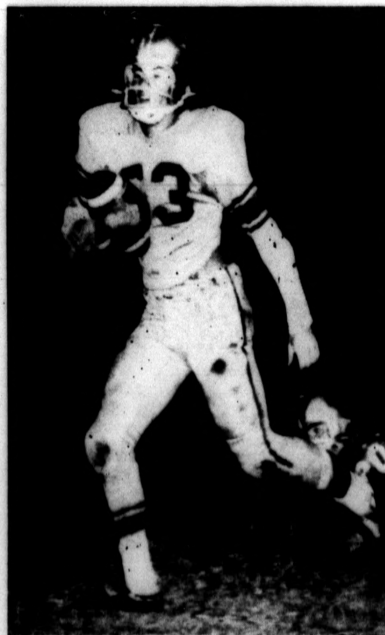

The next two touchdowns for the Aggies came after the Norsemen's third plays where inches were lost, and were forced to give the ball up, including two fourth down gambles that backfired to help turn the tide in favor of the Aggies.

This year's basketball team is greatly improved over last year's says Coach Max Buzzard. There is lots of interest, plenty of hustle, and an abundance of enthusiasm.

The team has six players returning for their second year. They are Ed Stockard, 6'5", Sapulpa; Dale Cooper, 5'9", Tulsa; Charlie Haun, 6'2", Oklahoma City; Walter Emarthla, 6'3", Picher; Gene Baker, 6'0", Sand Springs; and Jim Derwin, 5'11", Wyandotte.

Some of the promising freshmen are Sammie Bray, 6'5", Lindsay; Jackie Lewis, 5'11", Coweta; Douglas Gregory, 6'0", Shawnee; George Kevern 5'9", Orlando, Florida; John Watson, 6'2", Caccleddy, Fla.; Thomas Wynn 6'2", Welch; and Larry Herrel, 6'5", Miami.

So far there are seventeen games scheduled for this season. The first game is here with Coffeyville. Coffeyville was the Juco national champion last year. The first tournament is the Juco tournament Dec. 6, 7, and 8.

Larry McCoy, sophomore halfback, scores the Norsemen's first touchdown on a six yard run in their victory over Coffeyville.

PIGSKIN REVIEW

The 1962 Golden Norsemen deserve standing ovation by the viewers who have watched and followed the Norsemen through out their satisfied season.

N.E.O. finished with an 8-1-1 record with their only loss to Cameron, 39 to 6, and tied with Texasarkana 7-7. They blanked seven of their opponents which are as follows: Arkansas City 27-0; Grand Rapids, 39-0; Murray, 35-0; Wichita U. Freshman, 20-0; Tyler Texas, 20-0; Connors, 43-0; Coffeyville, 14-0; and Hutchinson 46-15.

The students and faculty would like to congratulate Coach Red Robertson and the team on another very successful year and hope that the future years are the same.
