NORSE LAND TOP BOWL

Students To Erect Memorial To Dyer

Operation 22 is officially underway on the campus of Northeastern A&M according to Paul Campbell, president of the Student Senate.

Fraternity Plans Annual Banquet

Phi Theta Kappa Fraternity at Northeastern A&M will hold its annual Founders Day banquet Monday, Nov. 29 in the banquet room of the Carter Student Union. The banquet, which is in honor of founders day of the local chapter, is to be held in conjunction with the initiation of new members.

Guest speaker for the evening, according to Charles Oney, president of the organization, will be Bill Bennett. Bennett is an NEO government instructor and a member of Phi Theta Kappa. Jessie Flint, Luther Goins, Myrtle Sprague, and Gladys Gilstrap, who are the chapter's oldest members, will attend the banquet and initiation as special guests of the fraternity.

Fifty-six Northeastern A&M students have received letters notifying them that their grades are sufficient for membership in the national junior college honor society. To be considered eligible for Phi Theta Kappa, a student must rank in the top 10 per cent of the student body scholastically and must have a 2.1 average and be currently carrying at least 12 hours.

The purpose of Operation 22 is to raise enough money to erect a memorial in honor of Don Dyer, who served NEO for 22 years as housing director. Through the program each student is requested to contribute a minimum of 22 cents, each cent representing a year of Dyer's stay at the college. Campbell stated that all contributions for the monument should be turned into the business office.

In connection with the fund-raising activities, dorm residents will be permitted, at designated times, to return a maximum of one hour past curfew. For this privilege they will be required to pay one penny per minute to be donated to Operation 22.

Definite plans for the memorial are still being perfected at this time, but the Student Senate hopes to have the memorial erected sometime during the second semester. Location for the monument will be near Dyer Hall on the proposed mall.

Members of the faculty are invited to attend the joint banquet and initiation.

NEO Joins State Senate Association

Members of Northeastern A&M's Student Senate recently returned from a meeting of the Oklahoma Junior College Student Senate Association at Connors State College, Warner. This was the first year that NEO has participated in the organization which acts as a workshop for state junior college student senates. Other colleges present were Bacone, Oklahoma State Tech, Eastern, Northern, Southwestern, and St. Gregory's.

Highlight of the two-day conference were talks on the philosophy of liberalism and the philosophy of conservatism. Presenting the opposing philosophies were Drew Edmondson, son of Congressman Ed Edmondson and a senior at Northeastern State College, Tahlequah, and Tom Mason, Muskogee county chairman of the Republican Party.

Of the eight colleges represented at the fall workshop, Northeastern A&M had the largest representation with 12 members present. Those attending included Paul Campbell, Ty Frederick, Jerome Frederick, Rick Williston, Mary Bryant, Sandy Hailey, Becky Moore, Linda Benson, Cynthia Bottoms, Linda Boston, Susan Weeks, and Dean Roddy.

Norse Win Spot In Savannah Bowl

One of the traditions of Northeastern A&M College is producing outstanding football teams and this year is no exception as the Golden Norsemen completed the season with an 8-1 record and landed a spot in the National Shrine Championship Bowl at Savannah, Ga., Nov. 24. NEO's Golden Norse will be competing for the championship title against the Lees-McRae's Bobcats of North Carolina, who have been unbeaten in nine games.

College Provides Chartered Buses

Chartered buses will be available to take students and adults who wish to attend the Shrine Bowl Game in Savannah, Ga. on Friday, Nov. 24, according to Dr. Bruce G. Carter, college president.

Dr. Carter stated that if 41 people charter the bus the total cost for the round trip will be $32.36 per person. He also said that although the buses will leave at any time the group desires, it is suggested that everyone leave Thursday afternoon and by doing this will arrive at their destination Friday afternoon. The buses will leave immediately following Friday night's football game and arrive back in Miami Saturday night. Students who plan on making the trip should take their money to the college Finance Office.

Admission for the Golden Norsemen-Lees-McRae's football game is $3.

The Savannah Shrine Bowl is the top bowl in the country for junior colleges, taking the place of the Little Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., which has been discontinued.

Northeastern's bid was offered after the Norse beat Taft, Calif., 19-7, Saturday night. This win boosted the Norsemen back to their No. 1 position which they had held for five straight weeks until they were defeated by Joplin, Missouri Southern College 21-20, Nov. 3 and dropped to No. 3.

Playing in Bowl games is nothing new to the Golden Norsemen as they have participated in the Papoose, 1947; Salt, 1948, '49 and '51; Texas Rose at Tyler, 1951; Junior Rose Bowl, '53, '56, and '63; and the National Junior College Athletic Association North South Playoff at Texarkana, Tex., 1959.

Upon being informed that the Norse had been accepted to play in the Championship Bowl, Coach Bowman, in his first year as head coach, said this was one of the happiest moments of his life.

NORTHEASTERN A&M CAMPUS - This is an artist's view of what the NEO campus will look like in the future. In fact all but two of the buildings are already a reality. Construction is expected to get underway immediately on the new field house and fine arts auditorium. The buildings should be completed by the 1953 fall term.

Time To Answer A Boy's Question

"Daddy, what's Thanksgiving?"
 "See, Thanksgiving is the day they light the Christmas trees in front of the store on Main Street. They take the curtains of the toy department windows and pretend to display this year's collection. The day we are reminded to order our Christmas cards. The day when the sound of "Come Ye Thankful People, Come", sung by the congregation of worshippers, is drowned in the din of "Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer." "

Northeastern A&M's Thanksgiving holidays (better known to some as "Christmas Is Just Around the Corner" holiday) are only a few days away. As classes are dismissed at the end of the day on Tuesday, Nov. 21, a large majority of the NEO student body will journey to their respective homes to be with their families, while a smaller portion of the students will remain on campus. Whether you return to your home or remain on campus perhaps you should attempt to answer the little boy's question. Would your answer read the same as the imaginary father's? Have your Thanksgivings been absorbed by Christmas, or don't you feel you have anything for which to be thankful? Do you feel underprivileged in twentieth century America? No American has ever deserved the designation "underprivileged" as fully as the Pilgrims, in November, 1621. They had no homes. They had no transportation but their shallops and their legs. They had little clothing but what was on their backs and what they could make from scarce materials. They had to get most of their food from the sea or the forest. They had no money that anyone could use in their location. They had no amusements but those they could invent. They had no neighbors but savages—who might at anytime go on the warpath. They had no outside communication but by letters overseas that needed months for their delivery. Yet they were thankful and probably didn't feel underprivileged.

There they were—a tiny huddle in the wilderness with 5,000 miles of ocean between them and their accustomed comforts. "They had none of the basic resources that even our most neglected families have today. But they were rich in the three greatest of all human assets—courage, a will to work unceasingly and boundless faith in God. One who had told them that they were underprivileged would probably have ended in the stocks. They had no pity for themselves. They asked for no social security. Their sense of security came from the only dependable source. Their consciousness of need was only for continued strength to fetch and carry for themselves."

"We have come a long, long way from the dearths of Pilgrim days. A much longer way from their riches."

When you sit down to your Thanksgiving feast if you can't think of anything for which to be thankful think of the little refugee New York school boy who wrote: "I am thankful for opportunity to be educated in America; for enjoying the many privileges unheard of in European countries; for living in a land governed by a democracy rather than by force; for a land where youths of all races have a tomorrow, rather than in my native land where youths have no tomorrow. I am thankful that I am happy and free . . ."

The word "if" has often been considered the largest word in the English language, obviously not for its length but for its calling out of the imagination. Use your imagination while reading this poem from the American Lutheran magazine:

If you were God, and God were you,
 And He were given a holiday
 To go to church to praise and pray
 And then He feasted and stayed away
 Without a thought of God or prayer
 Or thanks for all your loving care—
 If you were God and God were you,
 Say, —what would you do?
 If you were God and God were you,
 And a nation set a day for prayer,
 But only one had time to spare
 For every hundred that didn't care,—
 Would you believe they were sincere,
 And bless that nation again next year?
 If you were God and God were you,
 Say, —what would you do?
 If you were God and God were you,
 And millions professed a faith in you
 As giver of all good gifts and true,
 But never said "Thanks" or thought it due.
 But then when trouble came their way
 Expected your help without delay—
 If you were God and God were you,
 Say, —what would you do?
 "Daddy, what is Thanksgiving?"

The Air Force doesn't want to waste your Bachelor of Science Degree any more than you do.

B. Sc. Those letters have an impressive sound. But they won't be so impressive if you get shunted off into some obscure corner of industry after you leave college. A forgotten man. You want activity. You want to get in there and show your stuff. All right. How do you propose to do it? If you join the United States Air Force you'll become an expert fast.

The Air Force is like that. They hand you a lot of responsibility fast. Through Officer Training School you get a chance to specialize where you want... in the forefront of modern science and technology. Suppose, for example, you wanted to become a pilot and serve as aircraft commander on airplane crews. You'd plan missions and insure that the aircraft is pre-flight, inspected, loaded and equipped for the assigned mission. You'll be trained to fly exciting aircraft. Just examples. There are so many more. Wouldn't it be pretty nice to enjoy officers' pay and privileges? And serve your country, as well? Also, you get retirement benefits, 30 days' paid vacation, medical and dental care. B. Sc. Very impressive letters. Now, do something with them.

Masquers Present Second Production

Idealism versus practicality and duty to society versus duty to family constitute the basic theme of Northeastern A&M drama department's second production of the season, "All My Sons" by playwright Arthur Miller. The drama, which was heralded by critics as the first serious hit of 1947 about war's aftermath, will be directed by NEO's new chairman of the communications division Shiri White.

World Wide Art Exhibit On Campus

Currently available for observation in the college library is the traveling art exhibit for November, the third in a series of twelve. The display, which is from the permanent art collection of the Oklahoma University Museum of Art, consists of 20 works of art, including original lithographs, etchings, woodcuts, and seignographs.

According to Mrs. Kathryn Paige, NEO art instructor, the November collection is the best art exhibit Northeastern A&M has featured this year. The display, jointly sponsored by the local college and the Arts and Humanities Council of Oklahoma, features art pieces from the 16th century to the present, crafted by artists from 11 countries — America, Belgium, Brazil, Cuba, China, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Mexico and Poland.

A few of the pieces involved include "Man", Harold Altman; "Seventh Commandment," Hans Baldung, Germany; "Pelure", Pierre Alenchinsky, Belgium; "Blue Horizontal", Wou Ki, China; and "City Going Moon", Angelo Savelli, Italy.

Two Freshmen Share Unusual Nutrition Major

Dolan Street, freshman from Detroit, Mich., has the distinction of being the only male student enrolled at Northeastern as a Nutrition and Dietetics major. Of course this isn't so bad since there is only one other student enrolled in the same course and this happens to be a girl whose name is Lois Christenson, a freshman from Pierre, South Dakota. "I chose this major because I like to work with foods and I want to be a chef in a large institution or be employed as head dietician in a hospital," Street stated.

He said that he likes NEO and thinks the campus is lovely and the faculty and students are friendly but he believes there are too many rules and regulations governing the student body.

During school at Romulus High, Dolan played in the school band, was a member of the Latin Club, lettered three years in cross-country, two in track and wrestling, one year in tennis, and was elected captain of the wrestling team during his senior year. Now that he doesn't have time for sports, Dolan likes to read light, entertaining books and do card tricks.

All the children in Street's family are athletically inclined. His twin brother, who is a Senior in high school, plays basketball and his twelve year old brother shows signs of following in Dolan's footsteps. So when Dolan Street says admiringly "I am proud of Northeastern's football team. I didn't think this college would be so good in sports", one senses he really knows the inside story on athletics.

When queried on the cold war, which at the present time seems to be a very popular topic among college students, he had this to say, "The Viet Nam war is a worthwhile cause and if I had to go over and fight, I would."

After graduating from Northeastern A&M, Street's plans are to attend school in Wichita, Kansas, or at Michigan State. Upon completion of his Bachelor's degree, he plans to return to Detroit or move to California for employment. Later he hopes to earn his master's degree.

Lois Christenson and Dolan Street, both nutrition majors, gain knowledge through experience as they prepare various dishes.

Pretty, blonde Lois Christenson's philosophy on life is, "Be happy no matter what happens. Face the world with a smile." Certainly those who know her can say she practices her belief.

Lois ranked thirty-fourth in a class of 235 at Riggs High in Pierre, South Dakota. During the five years she lived in Pierre, Lois centered her attention around high school business courses.

When asked why she chose to major in Nutrition and Dietetics rather than just stictly Home Economics, she replied, "I'm more interested in foods and their functions than the other aspects of Home Ec."

Lois is active in the Norse Stars the Home Ec. club, and serves as freshman class officer. Her hobbies are tennis, swimming, and sewing, although in her spare time she either studies or sleeps.

"Things I want most are to have a happy home life and to obtain my career goals," states Lois. After she graduates with a Bachelor's degree in Foods and Nutrition from OSU she hopes to combine marriage and a career.

Dorm Residents Elect Officers

Residents of the new double dormitory recently elected officers for the 1967-68 school year.

Officers in the Girls' dorm include Judy Stevens, president; Phyllis Perkins, vice-president; Virginia Deere, secretary-treasurer; and Nancy Sas, student senate representative.

Elected as president of the boy's dorm was Roger Whitaker. Assisting him are David Johns, vice-president; Dick Brown, secretary-treasurer; and Orval Blunt, student senate representative.

Students Plan Future Events

Future events for the home economics students include a Christmas party scheduled for Dec. 4 and a Christmas tea sponsored by NEO's home economics and art departments for senior girls on Dec. 13. Purpose of the tea is to interest future students in the two departments.

Homecoming Remembered

With 1967 Northeastern A&M Homecoming at an end all that remains are memories. But what memories they are.

Perhaps the most colorful homecoming in the college's 48-year history will be remembered for its floats, queen contestants, and the end of an old feud between Cameron and NEO. While the present enrollees of NEO remember these things, the returning alumni will more than likely recall the new look of the campus and guided tours of the new Library-Administration building and other college structures.

For Elsa Lundy, homecoming queen, the night will hold many memories-interviews, the parade, the long ride around the track before the coronation, the anticipation, the coronation itself, and the immeasurable excitement. Memories forever.

"USS SHOW BOAT", created by the Industrial Technology Society, walked-off with first prize in the homecoming parade.

Ranking second in the float entries was the Aggie Society and Home Economics club's "As Americans As Red, White, and Pretty Girls."

Anticipation and happiness gleam on Diane Jacobsen's face as she is driven around the track before the coronation. Diane was named first runner-up.

Third place honors went to the Ambassadors club's "Friendship" creation.

Elsa Lundy Fulfills Queenly Definition

BY SUSAN WEEKS

"A woman foremost among others in certain attributes or accomplishments, as beauty, etc." is the definition Webster gives a queen. Northeastern A&M's 1967 homecoming queen, Elsa Lundy, doubtlessly qualifies as a reigning queen.

Quiet and rather soft-spoken, Elsa stated that if it hadn't been for escort, Glenn Rowley, she would have fainted when the announcer called out her name as homecoming queen. "I was really shook when they announced my name. I couldn't believe it — I still can't. The first thing I remember after hearing my name is Glenn taking hold of my arm."

Elsa, who was first runner up in last year's Junior Miss pageant, continued, "The only time I was frightened was when we were going around the field in the cars and I saw all the people at the game. I thought I would be nervous during the interview with the judges, but I wasn't. The judges were so kind. They told us that this was the first time they had judged a contest."

What did Elsa's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer G. Lundy of Afton, think of Elsa winning the coveted title? "My mother said, 'I'm proud of you,' and my father just looked at me." All but two of Elsa's eight brothers and sisters attended the game. Elsa stated that if her sisters were to enter a contest like the Junior Miss pageant or the homecoming contest her only advice would be "to be yourself." "That's the most im-

Letter To The Editor

Is there no better time than the week before nine weeks exams to have the Homecoming activities? It seems to me that at least two weeks before or one week after would be better for all concerned. Homecoming, after all, is for the students and their returning friends and visiting parents. How can one properly enjoy the festivities if exams are coming up, their friends are returning, and a decision to study or visit has to be made? Most often students will neglect their studies to entertain friends because they do go to different schools and it has been ages since they last saw each other.

When Homecoming festivities are just before mid-term neither the student nor the teacher has adequate time to prepare for the test. A teacher must be able to make a good comprehensive test that includes all things that have been covered in nine weeks. Most teachers are busy supervising, in one capacity or another, corsage sales, floats, queens, publicity, and clubs they sponsor in addition to their regular classwork. With these added responsibilities how is a teacher going to be efficient in his work and fair to the student? Everybody knows that regular activities slide during preparation for Homecoming so let's be fair and give ourselves a chance to recuperate before mid-term exams.

An exam on Monday after Homecoming weekend usually will not show the best that a student is capable of making on the test. A hectic hurry, scurry week before has weakened the student's potential and lessened his chances of having a decent grade. It really hurts if a student is on the border line between two grades and the nine weeks test determines which one it will be.

Someone's going to ask why the student doesn't drop working on the float or selling flowers or other activities he is involved in to study. Homecoming IS for the students, who ARE competing against other clubs for their queen candidate, and they ARE trying to make the festivities better than ever. So why let tests put a shadow on Homecoming or Homecoming on mid-term? Let's be fair and have Homecoming at least two weeks before or a week after nine weeks next year. Everyone deserves a break once in a while.

NEO Observes First Groady Day

Groady Day was celebrated at NEO for the first time on Nov. 9.

Students decked out in sweat shirt originals, shaggy jeans, and air conditioned tennis shoes displayed loyal, enthusiastic support for the Norsemen against their next rival Taft, California by writing spirited slogans such as "Sock It to Em Norse!" and many others on their clothes.

The football boys were presented with spirit cupcakes at the training table that evening and ate to the student's chants of "Go NEO!"

Building up enthusiasm, the students went from dorm to dorm shouting chants in support of NEO.

As a climax to the day a bonfire was held accompanied by the band and cheerleaders. Dennis Jackson, the Golden Norsemen's split end, emphasized the need for more support at the ball games. Al Consuegra, the Norse's tail back, introduced a new chant originated by the football boys, "Crash! Kill! and Destroy!"

Jack Wallace

Jack Wallace In Hospital

Jack Wallace, assistant football coach is at St. John's hospital Tulsa, undergoing tests. Wallace became ill Friday, Nov. 3.

Last year he served as acting coach and athletic director at Northeastern due to a heart attack suffered by "Red" Robertson, prior to his team's season opener with Oklahoma Military Academy. Wallace played for Robertson at Northeastern in 1947 and '48 and was an assistant coach when the Norsemen went to the Junior Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., in 1963.

Vikings Regain No. 1 Position

Doug Mathews bulls his way for one-yard through Taft's defensive line for a touchdown which tied the Norsemen 7-7. The Golden Norsemen defeated the Cougars 19-7 to put NED in the No. 1 position in Jr. College ranks.

Norse Invade Savannah Bowl

"Savannah or bust" is the cry of the Golden Norsemen as they prepare to travel to Savannah, Georgia to tangle with the Bobcats of Lees-McRae, N.C. in the National Shrine Junior College Championship Bowl to be played on Nov. 24.

MSC Lions Defeat No. 1 Norse 21-20

The dream of having an unbeaten season for the Northeastern A&M Golden Norsemen was suddenly shattered as the Lions of Joplin, Missouri Southern upset the Golden Norsemen 21-20 before a capacity crowd at Robertson field Nov. 4.

The Norse jolted the scoreboard as tailback Al Consuegra plunged across from the two-yard line for the Norsemen's first TD. Wayne Cathey added the extra point for a 7-0 lead late in the first period. Early in the second stanza, the Norse gained possession in their own 20-yard line as the defense held the Lions for four downs on the three yard line. Taking the ball from the line of scrimmage QB Larry Dudley flipped a screen pass to Mathews and the speedy back flew across the middle to cap a 78-yard scoring dash. Cathey's attempt for the extra point sailed wide of its mark and the Norse held a 13-0 lead with half of the second period remaining. Missouri Southern's only TD the first half came as halfback Stan Hunter slipped around right end and galloped 45-yards for the score. Cortez booted the extra point to cut the Norse lead to 13-7 at intermission time.

The only TD of the third period as speedy Al Holmes broke through three defenders and sprinted 72 yards for the tally. Cortez added the extra point to give MSC a 14-13 lead.

On the first play of the final period, Mathews broke through Northeastern A&M's Golden Norse finished their regular season with an 8-1 record with their only loss to Missouri Southern, 21-20. The loss dropped the Norse to the No. 3 position in the national ratings after the Vikings had held the No. 1 position for five straight weeks.

Henderson County, Tex., the No. 1 team in the nation, was defeated by Navarro, Tex. and Mesa of Grand Junction Colo. was defeated by Phoenix, Ariz. The combined losses of the No. 1 and 2 teams in the nation boosted NEO back into the bowl picture.

Lees-McRae, region 10 champions, possibly earned its bid on the basis of the 27-7 victory over then second-ranked Ferrum, Va. The Wildcats most lopsided rout was 47-0 over Carolina Military. The Wildcats romped over Showan 42-7. Lees-McRae, like NEO are small and quick. Walley Mathews, who has rushed for 733 yards while scoring three touchdowns, leads the speedy Wildcats.

the left side and cut back across the middle on a 42-yard touchdown gallop. Cathey's kick made it 20-14 with 14:50 left in the game.

The Norse defense came up with a gem as they held Joplin on the one-yard line with 7:24 left in the game. QB Doug Mathews moved the ball to the three then the five. Then on third down John Pell entered the game with a play from the bench. The direct snap from center went to Pell instead of the punter as the offense was hoping to catch the Lion's aslep on defense. Pell attempted to pass to Dennis Jackson but the pass was picked off and the defender rambled across from the seven-yard line to plunge the Lion's ahead 21-20.

Norsemen Trounce Taft Grab No. 1 Position

Sparked by the elusive running of QB Doug Mathews and FB Al Consuegra the Golden Norsemen rambled to a 1967 Savannah Bowl bid by defeating Taft, Calif., 19-7 Saturday, Nov. 11.

Consuegra gained the most yardage of the night as he rushed for 105 yards. Mathews scored three times as he broke the grasp of many would-be Wildcat tacklers. This victory boosted the Norsemen's record to 8-1 while Taft fell to 7-2.

It was the first time the Norse had defeated a California team, including three Junior Rose bowl trips. It also marked the first visit of a California junior college to Oklahoma.

The NEO defensive unit, led by tackles Ron Yankowski and Barty Chappell and guard Frank McCall held the Wildcats to 63 yards rushing in the final three periods. Although Taft dominated the first half, with 112 yards rushing in the first period alone, both teams entered the lockerroom at intermission tied, 7-7.

Bulling over from the one-yard line, fullback Mike Diamonds put Taft on the scoreboard as they took the opening kickoff and marched 77 yards for the score. Scarnecchia added the extra point to make the score 7-0 with 7:12 remaining on the clock in the first period.

Mathews erased the Bobcats lead as he plunged over from the one-yard line to knot the game at 7-7 with 3:47 left in the second stanza. This was Mathews shortest touchdown of the season. Mathews scored his second TD as he was on the receiving end of a 56-yard pass from QB Bubba Dudley. Wayne Cathey missed the up-rights to make the score 13-7 with 6:53 left in the third quarter. Mathews completed his scoring bulge as he scooted around right end and romped 75-yards for the tally. Cathey's try for extra point sailed wide and the score stood 19-7 with 1:37 left in the third period.

Defensive back De Cooper put added pressure on the Wildcat quarterback and recovered a fumble at the three to halt a 78-yard Taft drive. The Norsemen held Taft at their 3, 10, 12, and 23 yard lines during the fourth period.

Coach Green Returns Six Sophomores

Nineteen cage prospects, including five returning lettermen are competing for starting berths on the 1967-68 Northeastern A & M basketball team.

Coach Cletus Green selected the 19 from a group of 36 hopefuls who began tryouts in the middle of October.

The Golden Norsemen, who posted a fine 19-12 record last season, have scrimmaged Oral Roberts University, Northeastern State, and Pittsburg State in an effort to gain valuable experience for the upcoming schedule.

The five sophomore lettermen are Terry Johnson, 6-1 and 190, Decatur, Ill.; David Loftin, 6-9 and 185, Argo, Ill.; Larry Meyer, 6-1 and 178, Seminole; Jim Waldren, 6-4 and 210, Urbana, Ohio; and Ron Young, 6-4 and 198, Lexington, Ky. A soph non-letterman is Johnnie Checotah, 5-9 and 160, Okmulgee.

Waldren, who was the sparkplug of the 1965-66 Norse squad, is returning after a year's absence. He did not attend Northeastern last year because of serious injuries received in a construction accident.

Freshmen candidates are Arnold Dennis, 6-4 and 190, Collinsville, Ill.; Tim Breedlove, 5-8 and 158, Tulsa; Mike Elsass, 5-7 and 140, Wapakoneta, Ohio; Mark Hancock, 6-5 and 198, Newport, Ky.; Bill Hurley, 6-1 and 167, Del City; Fred Jackson, 6-3 and 188, Tulsa; Ron Johnson, 6-8 and 215, Newark, N. J.; Larry Lincoln, 6-5 and 185, Toledo, Ohio; Herb McHenry, 6-3 and 185, Canton, Ohio; Sam Rednour, 6-3 and 190, Trico, Ill.; Dan Spurlock, 6-5 and 178, Dewar; Louis Vann, 5-8 and 150, Tulsa; and Mike Wilkinson, 6-4 and 197, Pawnee.

All-American football player in the junior college ranks today. Northeastern A&M's head football coach Chuck Bowman has many boys which possess these qualities. Two of them are quarterbacks Bubba Dudley and Doug Mathews, who have the task of filling the shoes of an All-American quarterback, Harold Pascock who played for the Golden Norsemen last season.

Mathews is the fellow that strikes terror into the hearts of the defenders that try to "reach him for a loss or prevent him from going all the way after he has grabbed a pass from Dudley. Dudley and Mathews have combined with each other so many times throughout the Norsemen's illustrious season that they could become known as the "Mutt and Jeff" of the Golden Norsemen. This combination proved to thousands of fans that NEO holds the key to the top position in the junior college ranks.

Larry Dudley, a 6-foot, 185-pounder arrived at NEO from the University of Tennessee so that he could have a little more seasoning before returning to the four year college ranks. Dudley alternated with Mathews throughout the season and chalked up more than 1,000 yards through the air.

Although 59 quarterbacks are normally a rarity in junior college football action, Mathews apparently does not know this as he led the Norsemen in scoring with 15 touchdowns to give him 90 total points and make him the leading scorer in the conference.

"I'd love to play at a major college, but I haven't had any offers yet. I hope I do, though," was Doug Mathews comment when asked how he felt about playing at a four year school. Coach Bowman is positive that Mathews is a major college prospect. "Doug is definitely a major college prospect. He reminds me of Tommy McDonald when he was at Oklahoma," said Coach Bowman when asked about Doug's future.

Norsemen Trample Cameron

Northeastern A & M's Golden Norsemen romped to their seventh straight victory and gained another step closer to a bowl as they defeated the Cameron Aggies 66-0 before an overflow homecoming crowd of approximately 6500, Oct. 28.

Climaxing the homecoming activities, this campaign brought down the curtains on a long and illustrious football rivalry as the Cameron Aggies move to the four year college ranks next year.

Leading the explosive offense of the Vikings were Bubba Dudley and Doug Mathews. Dudley unloaded six touchdown bombs and Mathews scored four TD's with his elusive running tactics. Buster Sanchez also contributed to the offensive bombardment by scampering for three touchdowns. Defensive standouts were David Slatton and John Pell as they both combined to stop Cameron's offense cold. Slatton picked up three Aggie miscues and Pell picked off three Cameron aerials.

The Vikings first TD came as Sanchez plowed up the middle for one yard and the score, with Wayne Cathey adding the extra point with 7:12 left in the first period. With 3:06 left in the first stanza, Mathews rambled off left tackle for 49 yards as Cathey added the extra point.

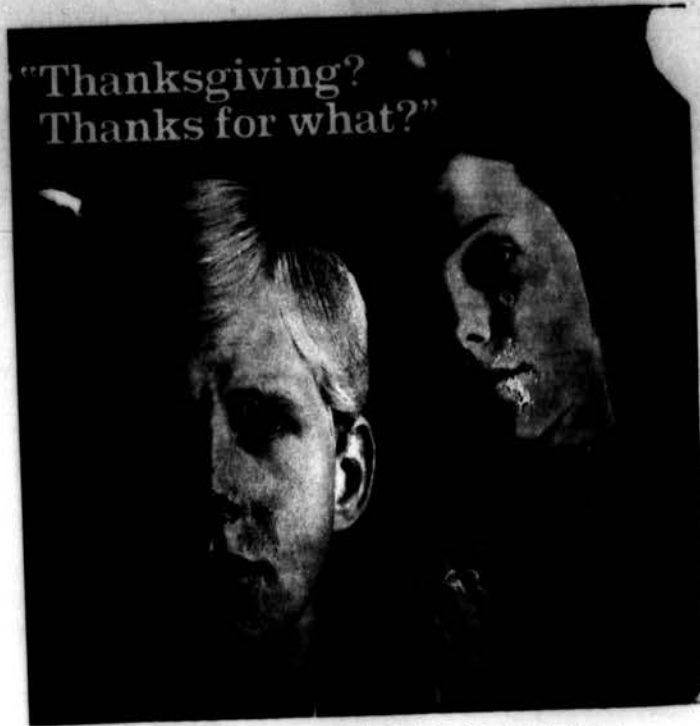

Quarterback Larry Dudley dominated the scoring in the second quarter as he passed to Dennis Jackson for 15 yards, to Mathews for 21 yards, and to Don Gramling for 80 yards. Wayne Cathey's attempt at the extra points throughout the quarter either were deflected or sailed wide of its mark.

At half-time the Golden Norsemen were leading the Bear Jensen's Aggies 32-0.

Sanchez returned from the locker room to slash off right tackle for two yards and the TD with Cathey finding the range on the extra point to make the score 39-0 with 9:46 left in the third period.

Smashing off right guard for one yard, Sanchez again rang the touchdown bell with Cathey's attempt at the extra point going off to the left, the score stood 45-0 with 4:22 left in the third quarter. A John Pell interception set up the next score as Dudley passed to Mathews for 12 yards to make it 52-0 with 10:48 left in the final period.

The Dudley to Mathews combination again clicked as Mathews grabbed a 25 yard pass from Dudley to run the tally to 59-0 with 2:32 left in the game. The Norsemen's final TD came as Larry Dudley used the services of Tom Crego to score on a pass from 14 yards out. On the try for extra point, Mathews kept the ball from his customary holding position and passed to Crego for the "Thanksgiving?

Thanks for what?"

Most everybody asks a blessing over his Thanksgiving turkey as a ritual. But how many of us remember that giving thanks is the deepest, most meaningful sort of prayer?

These cynical days, of course, you'll hear some people say, "What have I got to say thanks about?"

The answers to that never change: Thanks for what we have, no matter what that is.

Thanks for what we are, and can be.

Thanks for all God's blessings on us and on others.

This Thanksgiving, think of what giving thanks really means.

In the truest sense of gratitude, it means each of us must re-dedicate himself to the idea that "God's work must truly be our own." Everywhere. Every day.

People change the world. Thankful people change it for the better.
