Seniors Welcomed For View Of Campus Life

BY SHERRY HILL

An invasion, an onslaught, an inspection, a time for fun and laughter, and a time for solemn thought: this is Senior Day at Northeastern Okla. A&M.

Today the college opens every door, and over 1,200 high school students are taking advantage of the opportunity to wander about the campus, peek into the classrooms, drink a Coke at the union and inspect the machine and welding shops.

In short, try to experience in one day all the facets of life in an Oklahoma college.

The physical and biological science departments will have demonstrations representative of their respective branches of science. Booths are set up by various clubs and organizations on campus. They will have exhibits showing the activities of the organization during the year.

Then too, each club sponsors guides which will conduct tours of the campus during the morning prior to the 10 o'clock general assembly.

It is hoped that this will be more than a school meet-school affair. And it is in this spirit that individual rooms of the dorms will be open to the visiting school students. For it is here that they will get their most personal glimpse of college life.

After 1 p.m. the seniors will be conducted on a tour of the B. F. Goodrich Tire Company. They will also be the guests of the Miami Chamber of Commerce at the Coleman theatre.

Also during the afternoon the seniors are invited to watch NEO battle the Oklahoma Military Academy in a baseball game, and cheer our boys when they meet Fort Scott, Kan. on the track field.

At 8 p.m. a dance in the Bruce G. Carter Student Union will cap the days activities. Both guests and college students are expected to attend.

Some of them will return in the fall, some will not, but whichever it is, Senior Day will have provided many with their first look at college life.

NEO A&M Plans Construction Of Four Major Buildings; Student Union Will Be Expanded

Northeastern Okla. A&M college, one of the state's most rapidly growing two-year colleges in enrollment, is in the process of taking the biggest spurt of physical growth in its 44 year history.

Clearing of a 30 acre area immediately south of the campus is underway and construction of four major buildings, plus an addition to an existing structure, is scheduled to begin this summer.

The projects will appreciably expand Northeastern Oklahoma A&M's student living, space for administrative offices and classroom space, Dr. Bruce G. Carter, president announced.

The property was acquired under the Federal Urban Renewal program. It involves 108 pieces of property. Houses in the area now are being sold—many to be moved to other locations.

Acquisition of the property, which will virtually double the size of the Northeastern campus, will cost an estimated $1 million, Dr. Carter said. Of that amount about $750,000 will be financed by the federal government and the remaining $250,000 by the college.

Scheduled to begin about July 1 are two three story dormitory buildings, one for boys and one for girls, and three eight-unit apartments for 24 married students.

The dormitory buildings, each of which will accommodate up to 176 students, will cost an estimated $560,000 each with the apartment facilities estimated to cost about $260,000, Dr. Carter said.

Already on the drawing board is a new administration building-library which will cost an estimated $600,000 including furnishings, said Dr. Carter. The building is being designed by Jack Mann and Larry Edmondson, Miami architects. Mann was the architect for the Bruce G. Carter Student Union building, completed in February 1960, and Edmondson was the architect for Dyer Hall, a boys' dorm.

Administrative offices are currently housed in the oldest building on campus. New offices have been needed for some time, Dr. Carter said.

The current library has facilities to seat only 10 per cent of the student body, while a capacity for at least 25 per cent is considered adequate, Dr. Carter added.

The bill now awaiting legislative action would provide $250,000 for construction of a new building to house NEO's vocational and technical school, recognized as one of the most outstanding in this section of the nation. The bill was introduced by Rep. Joe Mountford of Miami.

Object of the expansion project will be the Carter Student Union. Scheduled to begin in May, that project will cost an estimated $150,000 and will include new kitchen facilities and an addition to the dining room, Dr. Carter said.

Phi Theta Kappa Elects New Officers

BY JOHNSON & WOLF

Larry Coltrane, a freshman agriculture major from McCune, Kansas, was elected president. Larry is a member of the Aggie Society and has maintained a grade average of 3.7.

In addition to the president, three vice-presidents were elected. Calvin Flaharty, a freshman majoring in agriculture from McCune, Kansas, was elected first vice-president. Second vice-president is freshman Terry Hedeman, another agriculture major from Lockwood, Mo. Janice Barnes a freshman from Miami, Okla. was elected third vice-president. Janice's major is psychology.

Elected secretary of the organization was Deanne Brewster, a freshman from Miami. Cheryl Martin, from Vinita, and also a freshman, was chosen for the office of treasurer.

Jana Lyn Irwin, a freshman from Miami, was elected reporter-historian. Bill Layton, from Fairland will be the student council representative for the group. He is a freshman.

Customized Interior And Body Make A Student's Dream Car

BY JUDY CAPEHART

"But how do you open the doors? The handles are gone." This is everyone's first remark upon seeing Bill Appl's car.

Bill Appl, a Shawnee freshman, has a 1956 gold Ford which has been customized. Bill's car is fabulous! The body of the car grill has been replaced by the make-up of a 1959 Plymouth Grill. The tail-lights are those of a 1955 Chrysler and French headlights have replaced those normally found on a Ford. The tire rims and window moldings are chrome. The hood has been sectioned (cut shorter).

One of the most amazing things is the complete absence of any door handles whatsoever on the car. The doors open electrically from a hidden button on the car's exterior.

The interior of the car was done in Tijuana, Mexico. The seats of the car are done in candy apple red and white tuck and roll leather, as are the trunk and the leatherette cover for the interior of the hood. The carpet on the interior of the car is also done in candy apple red and white.

Under the hood of the car lies a world of chrome. Bill has chrome covers for the breather, valves, battery, heater, and fire walls.

The car has a 352 cubic inch engine which is an exceptionally big engine for the car. "How fast will it run?" you ask. Bill doesn't know. He's never had it running that fast; so not only does he have an exceptionally sharp car, but he takes exceptionally good care of it.

The entire customizing job cost Bill $600 and was done at Reed's Body Shop in Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Looking like a giant bug about to devour its owner—is the customized front and grill of Bill Appl's car. Bill gives a shine to one of its "teeth." Entry is gained through a secret button on the exterior that opens the door. The car is heavily insured.

CANDID CAMPUS

BY JUDY CAPEHART

The April winds are blowing now, but NEO can look forward to a "fun-type" future instead of the blustery present. For as spring arrives so does sunlight and laughter, spring sports, and instant fun.

This happy-go-lucky type of fun is to be found in swimming, tennis, picnics, trips to the lake, climbing the chat piles, and just long walks or drives in the country.

Many of the NEO students have already been swimming. Carol Claunch and Barbara Kight say, "The water's freezing, but who cares? It's great to go swimming again."

Mary Terrill took a swim she hadn't planned when she was thrown in the lake while on a fun-filled Sunday afternoon excursion.

Love and marriage are flourishing on the NEO campus. Joe Lewis and Mary Petty were married. Mary Abbott and Richard Green also took that final step as did Sharon King who married a Tulsa boy, Gerald Montgomery, a student at the University of New Mexico. Don Sapp married Darlene McClure of Oklahoma City.

Diane Pace was honored by some of the girls in the dorm with a surprise birthday party.

The baseball team has two special features now — Mocho Mouse and Andy Elephant.

Judy Billingsly and Lola Barrett spent a fun-filled week-end visiting OSU while Lani Henderson had a very good week-end at Oklahoma University.

Rick Romans drove back to school following Highway 66 Sunday night because his 1931 Chevrolet wouldn't go as fast as the minimum speed limit on the turnpike. He made very good time, however, it only took him four hours to drive from Tulsa to Miami. Sheri George is flashing a diamond engagement ring around now. Congratulations go to Sheri and Gary Shepherd, of Miami. Making a flying trip to Roswell, New Mexico over the week-end was Cliff Mitchell, the reason? He married Sandra Stephenson. Our boys do get around!

Visiting Twin Caves has proved to be quite an interesting excursion for many of the students at NEO. What's the word, kids?

Government Students Get True View Of Politics In Action, Not In Theory

BY SHERRY HILL

Not politics in theory, but politics in action. This is what Northeastern Okla. A&M government students are getting a glimpse of. Instructor Charles Angle recently invited politically minded area people to discuss their jobs with his classes.

The first to accept was Mrs. Elizabeth Paine, college librarian. Mrs. Paine represented the League of Women Voters and discussed their roll as a pressure group.

Next Angle scheduled Lance Duff, former Republican Chairman of Ottawa County and Clyde Green, his Democratic counterpart to appear together. Last minute schedule changes, however, forced the two men to speak on separate occasions.

Also on the list of guest speakers was the Democratic County Chairman of Craig County, and John White, City Manager of Broken Arrow.

"Student participation has been overwhelming," said Angle, who is also the Dean of the college.

"The first part of the class period was devoted to the speaker's lecture. A question and answer period followed. Speakers scheduled for an hour usually found themselves still answering questions two hours later from students who stayed after class to continue the discussion.

"Many students feel that government is like an iceberg, two thirds hidden. They can work up little enthusiasm for text book theory. But here was the true picture.

AF Military Ball Scheduled; To Include Awards Presentation

BY GARY GARTON

The annual spring Military Ball has been scheduled by the AF-ROTC department of NEO A&M for Saturday May 11th, in the Miami Civic Center. All cadets and their dates are invited to attend this formal military function.

"The Ensemble," an eighteen piece band from Muskogee has been engaged to furnish dance music for the evening.

It is planned that the AFROTC Honor Guard will be present; and the Group Commander, with the group staff will make up a formal receiving line.

Among other ceremonies for the evening, a grand march has been tentatively scheduled.

Free refreshments will be served, and cadets will be offered an opportunity to have pictures made of themselves and their dates, a service which proved to be very popular at the last military ball.

In order for everyone to participate in this function, without undue expense to individual members; cadets are being discouraged from purchasing corsages for their dates.

During intermission certain awards will be presented in recognition of those cadets who have distinguished themselves during the last academic year.

These awards will be presented in behalf of: The Air Force Association; The Air Force Times; General Dynamics Corporation; and various other patriotic and civic organizations.

Also scheduled, is the announcement of the Cadet Group Commander, and key Group Staff members for the coming 1963 fall semester.

It has been anticipated that if this Military Ball continues in the tradition of past years, it will be a highly successful evening.

IT'S PARTY TIME — — — Not really, it's just an everyday gab session which takes place in almost every room of the girls dorm at some time during the day or night. This is just one of the ways to break the monotony of studying and the ordinary schedule of a day's routine. Refreshments are always plentiful, and as for the jokes — there are always enough to furnish an hour's laughs. What may seem like a waste of time to an outsider, is a necessity in the life of every dorm resident.

Story Written By Student Writers Widely Printed

Owrang Sadjadi is a very well known man. Or at least he should be by now.

As a result of an article written by two Norse Wind editors, Ruth Ann Wolf and June Johnson, the story of Owrang and his bride by proxy was published world wide.

The story was picked up by United Press International and Associated Press in Tulsa. From there the story was sent by wire to every major newspaper in the world.

The story appeared in the April 12 issue of the Norse Wind and described how Owrang, an international student at NEO, arranged to marry his sweetheart in Shiraz, Iran by proxy with his father standing in for the groom.

"I must have had a beautiful wedding. Too bad I couldn't make it," said Owrang.

Naval Reserve Officers To Visit NEO

Students interested in obtaining information regarding participation in the Naval Reserve Program and learning of officer-type programs will have the opportunity April 29-30.

LCDR Allen L. Clark, Chief Boatswain's Mate Jerry Curtis and Yeoman Second Class Sands will visit the school between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. to interview and talk with interested students.

A display rack on the Naval Reserve was set up in the Bruce G. Carter student union Monday.

"Oh, darling, I've missed you," she cried, and fired the gun again.

The Viking, NEO's annual will arrive on campus May 11, announced Barbara Johnson, editor.

The annual will be checked out to students through the Finance office after that date.

There's a new Beatnik doll on the market. You wind it up and it doesn't work.

Next Year's Sophomores Pre-Enroll May 14 In Bruce Carter Student Union

Freshmen students who will be sophomores the first semester of 1963-64 will pre-enroll Tuesday May 14 from 1 - 4 p.m. in the Bruce G. Carter Student Union.

The object of pre-enrollment is to eliminate many of the problems encountered during fall enrollment, such as waiting in line, filling up classes and general confusion.

During the pre-enrollment period a student will be able to enroll in the classes he chooses before they are filled. He will have more time to consult advisors, and prepare his sophomore schedule.

Next fall, those who have pre-enrolled will have to spend only about 15 minutes securing their enrollment cards and getting them initialed by their instructors.

This frees the students of last minute details and allows them to get settled before classes start.

Pre-enrolling not only lessens the burden on the students, but also enables the college to ascertain the amount of additional classes which may be needed to accommodate next year's enrollment.

Any student desiring more information on pre-enrollment should consult Mr. Oran Need, chairman of enrollment.

NORSE TROUNCE AGGIES 11 TO 2

Ed Stockard racked up victory number six as he and the Golden Norse went the route to defeat the Connors Aggies 11 to 2 in a nine inning run away here Tuesday.

Connors who have been beaten twice, both times by the Norsemen, failed to lead during the entire ballgame. The Norse had two down in the third when Jim Wahnee started it off. The Norse scored six runs behind the hitting of Dale Cooper, Gary Heavnerly, Andy Sixkiller and a tremendous two run four-bagger by Frank Fox. Wahnee who had three safeties in five times at bat made outstanding plays in the field saving the Norse three runs.

Two weeks previous the Norsemen defeated Connors for the first time of the season 10 to 1.

A woman applying for her driver's license was uneasy despite the simple questions. "And what is the white line in the middle of the road for, Madam?" Asked the examiner. She thought it over for a moment, then blurted out; "Bicycles!"

GRANT PERRY

A hole in one was made by Grant Perry, an NEO freshman from Midwest City. The event took place Monday April 15, on the Midwest City golf course.

Grant, who has been playing golf for two years, made his hole in one on the seventh hole of the course. He was accompanied by his brother Dean Perry.

The only comment he had to make about the feat was: "I was darn lucky, a lot of good golfers never make one in their whole life, and here I have made one in the first two years I have been playing."

Grant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Perry of 2601 Robin Road, Midwest City.

FIELDHOUSE FACTS

BY PHIL GRAHAM

It looks as though, with the Regional-State tourney coming up the Golden Norse are going to be the ones to beat. Going into the final stretch, Coach Homa Thomas and his squad has yet to have been beaten in conference play. In over-all play the Norse have been beaten only twice, and that was to two universities.

The Regional tourney, which will get under way May 9 and continue through the 11th, will be a bit different this year. In previous years a team would be eliminated if defeated one time. This year it will be a double elimination.

All jaco teams throughout the state will gather at OMA on the Cadets of OMA. You see, the Norse are going out to "the ole ball game," aren't we? If you don't—the tourney will travel to Colorado where they will play the top teams in the United States.

Thomas is very optimistic this year with his team being in real good shape. Gary Havorly, starting shortstop of last year, who has short out the entire season will be ready at least by then.

Gary, being an outstanding glove man also adds to the offensive attack with his stick.

The conference leading Norsemen also have the hittingest team in the league. The Norse have averaged way over 10 runs in every game, getting at least 15 safeties per contest.

Special recognition should also go to Avanna Jarrad, Doug Gregory and Dale King, for their work in relief as well as their starting roles.

Everything has gone great for the baseballers this year except one major detail. The attendance has been weak, much lower than expected. Today the Norse take on the Cadets of OMA. You see, the Norse are going out to "the ole ball game," aren't we? If you don't—the tourney will travel to Colorado where they will play the top teams in the United States.

Coach Jack Rucker and his tracksters also have a state championship to defend next week. This one day event will be held on the college's own oval, May 2.

Miller Bob Smith will be out to break his record of approximately 4:27 which he set last year.

Ron Wilson, Doug Rhodes, Darrell Watts and Randy Scott will be out to win the relays again this year. Ray Pasley, Larry McCoy and Gene Crockett will be very strong in the hurdle competition.

Walter Emarthia, Clyde Faulkner and John Harrison will be very strong in the rough distant events.

Foy McClung, Don Dyer, Bud Willis, Bill Harsch, Gary Lunnon, Howard Glen and Jim Derwin will be the strongest in field events.

We'll see you there!
