STUDENT PUBLICATION OF

NORTHEASTERN OKLAHOMA A&M

VOLUME 25

MIAMI, OKLAHOMA — FRIDAY

SEPTEMBER 27, 1960

NO. 2

Rev. John Lee Peck

Peck Serves BSU Fulltime

Reverend John Lee Peck, formerly pastor at the First Baptist Church in Afton, is serving as the new director of the NEO Baptist Student Union.

Rev. Peck, who is the first person to work in this capacity full-time, succeeds Rev. Russell Moudy, who held the position on a part time basis. Moudy is presently serving as associational superintendent of missions in the Northeastern Oklahoma Baptist Association.

Rev. Peck received his Bachelor's degree from Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee in 1955 and his Bachelor of Divinity degree in 1961 from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Ft. Worth, Tex. From 1953 to 1961, the Pecks served pastorates at Holdenville, where he was ordained, McCurtain, and near Coffeyville, Kans., from 1961 to 1966.

The Pecks served the Afton Baptist church since June, 1966.

NEO Aggies Propose Club

Approximately 30 aggie students met Thursday night Sept. 15, to discuss the possibilities of forming a rodeo club.

Plans were discussed to form both a girls and boys rodeo team. Consideration was also given to competing in Panhandle A&M's Intercollegiate rodeo in early October.

Dates will be posted for the next meeting at which time officers will be elected.

New Techniques In Watercolors Decorate Library

Thirty-nine watercolor paintings from the Springfield Art Museum in Springfield, Mo., are currently on display in the Northeastern A&M library, according to Mrs. Kathryn Paige, art instructor at the local college. The works will remain here through Sept. 30.

Mrs. Paige stated that the paintings included in the traveling exhibit were selected from 100 in the original Watercolor U.S.A. 1968 show held annually in Springfield to demonstrate the wide range of watercolor techniques today.

She stated that the local college is the first place in the U.S. to receive the paintings for exhibition. The show will go to the University of Chattanooga, Tenn., for the month of October.

The traveling show is sponsored here jointly by the local college and the Oklahoma Arts and Humanities Council.

NEO Featured In Juco Review

Northeastern A&M College has been featured as college of the month in the September issue of Juco Review, official publication of the National Junior College Athletic Association.

As college of the month, a picture of the entire campus appears on the front cover of the magazine and three pages on the inside have been devoted to the local college.

The magazine is edited by Donald W. Schmidt and published in Troy, New York.

NEO Student Senate Slates Fall Activities

Northeastern A&M's Student Senate has gone to work again this year arranging activities for the students, from movies to mixers.

The student senate began the school year by sponsoring its mixer. The dance was preceded by a reception in which students were able to meet and other college parties and mixer will be held.

year and will be sponsored by various clubs and organizations. Dates are still open for any club interested in sponsoring one of these dances.

The student senate will again present movies each Wednesday night in the little theater at no cost to NEO students. The senate has promised a full calendar of fine movies.

As last year, the student senate movies are scheduled:

Sept. 25—Bell, Book and Candle—color James Stewart and Kim Novak

Oct. 5—It Happened to Jane—color Doris Day, Jack Lemmon, Ernie Kovacs

Oct. 23—The Appaloosa—color Nov. 13—Ma & Pa Kettle at Waukegan—color

Dec. 4—The Killers of Kilmanjaro—color
Dec. 18—Torn Curtain—color Paul Newman and Julie Andrews

Oct. 3 is another day to mark on the calendar as the student senate puts together a collection of talent from the NEO campus to present a program of singing and other talent. Anyone with musical ability who would like to take part should call Linda Brazel, Barry Woods, Steve Cravello or Ted Blevins.

Oct. 10 is the date set aside for the Red Cross blood mobile. Each See SENATE Page 2, Column 3

School Vandalism Cost The Students

With the beginning of every school year there are always problems to iron out and it seems that this year one of the big problems on the NEO campus has to do with the vending machines placed in the dorms, snack bars and buildings. Some students become frustrated with these machines when their money is lost or their candy bar is a month old and immediately take their aggressions out on the machines by hitting them with a severe blow to the coin return. Action of this type can only hamper the situation more.

The money from these machines goes to make this campus a much better one for the students as the profits go into the student activity fund, the game room, cafeteria and will be used to keep the new pool open for student use when it is completed. Tearing up these vending machines will only cause their removal, as a result cut down on the money in the student activity fund and perhaps cause a few sleepless nights for the person who wasn't able to have his milk and cookies before bed.

When a student has a run in with one of these machines the last thing they should do is kick, pound or beat the machine. Do not unplug the machines, remember the milk machine you unplug may be the one that fills the air in your room with the smell of soured milk. If anything like this should happen to you, collect your wits before you savagely hit the machine and inform the housemother or custodian, they will handle the situation and do their best to see that the money is returned.

Other malicious conduct has been observed on campus as well. Students have pulled up shrubs in front of the dorms for some unknown selfish reason. These trees are purchased through the room and board you pay and by destroying them you will be wasting your money. They are placed there to beautify the campus and should not be taken for granted. Drink in the beauty of these shrubs with your eyes and not your hedge trimmers.

This is truly our campus and it is the responsibility of each student to be certain it is kept nice. So next time you start to kick the coke machine be careful, it might kick back.

SENATE
 student wanting to participate will be given a pass to be signed by their parents. The Senate hopes to gross 200 units of blood which should be one of the top donations in Oklahoma. Last years total donation was 85 units.
 Oct. 18-20 is the date for the State Juco Senate meeting in Oklahoma City. Lois Christensen NEO Sophomore, is National Student Senate secretary.

Parents' Day and Homecoming will be held Saturday, October 26. The highlight of the day will be when the Golden Norsemen clash with Ferrum, Va., at 8 p.m. on Robertson field.

Nov. 11-13 is Religious Emphasis Week on the NEO campus. Doug Manning will be the featured speaker. An hour a day has been set aside for student assemblies; Monday 9 a.m.-10 a.m., Tuesday 10 a.m.-11 a.m., and Wednesday 11 a.m.-12 noon. Meetings will be held each night in the dorms for students discussion after 10 p.m., while married couples will hold their own meetings.

The student senate will also sponsor the Children's Christmas Party again this year; going by the same procedure used last year. This event is scheduled for Dec. 16.

Aggies Select New Officers

Northeastern A&M's Aggie society has elected new officers for the 1968-69 school year to head one of the Aggies largest groups with an enrollment of 240 students.

The new officers, according to Harry S. Synar, sponsor of the group, are president, Martin Reed, Centerville, Kan.; vice president, Dewey Enlow, Sapulpa, Okla.; secretary, Gerald Eggerman, Lockwood, Mo.; treasurer, Don Simmons, Stillwater, Okla.; reporter, Sherman Wolf, Cushing, Okla.; senator, Randy Rosiere, Wyandotte, Okla.; parliamentarian, Harlan Stoner, Wyandotte, Okla.; sergeant at arms, Ken Judge, Stillwater, Okla.

Ministerial Alliance Forms Campus Inc.

Campus Ministry, Inc., an organization which will function for the first time this fall, serves campus students who want to become better acquainted with the ministers of churches and their programs.

The Bethany Christian, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Catholic, Lutheran, and Methodist churches make up the campus ministry under the leadership of Charles A. Neal, Jr., president; Charles Haywood, vice president; and Dr. Ron Gilbert, secretary-treasurer.

The Campus Ministry is a joint operation of religious services on campus whose board of directors will be composed of the ministers of each church, three students, three laymen from each denomination and one alternate delegate to fill the absence of any of the others.

RONNIE LOWERY

State Champion Twirler Highlights A & M Band

BY CAROL COLCLASURE

Marching and twirling for Northeastern A&M's Norse Band is Ronnie Lowery, the Oklahoma State twirling champion.

Lowery has maintained the title of state champion for the past five years winning over 40 first place medals and trophies.

A graduate from Daniel Webster High School in Tulsa, Lowery was featured twirler in the high school band and has performed for such celebrities as Jayne Ann Jayroe and Gov. Dewey Bartlett.

Lowery says he first became interested in twirling when he watched the bands perform during halftime at football games. He began twirling at the age of eight and won his first trophy at 14.

He was offered scholarships to Oklahoma State University, University of Oklahoma, University of Texas, and Northeastern A&M. Lowery says he chose NEO because it was a junior college with a friendly environment.

A freshman, Lowery is majoring in data processing and plans to attend either Oklahoma State University or the University of Oklahoma upon graduation from Northeastern A&M.

Lowery has a twin brother also attending NEO and two sisters at home age 12 and 13. The youngest is the twirler mascot for the Daniel Webster high school band and hopes to someday hold the title of Oklahoma State Twirling Champion.

As feature twirler for NEO's Norse band, Lowery will be performing numerous twirling variations with double flags, fire batons, hoops, hook knives, lariats, and machetes during halftime entertainment at the Golden Norsemen football games.

In January, Lowery will be competing with state champion twirlers from all over the world at the World National Twirlers Contest in St. Paul, Minn.

Lowery plans to give lessons in all fields of twirling, marching, and competition. If you are interested contact Ronnie Lowery or Dr. Swanson.

SUSIE GRAY

September Means Miss Susie Gray

BY BARBARA HOOPER

Returning to school is always an enjoyable experience and it is certainly more so with such a beauty as Susie Gray, the Norse Winds' choice for Miss September, dotting the campus.

Susie, a sophomore from Miami, is majoring in elementary education and hopes to continue her studies next fall at Oklahoma State University, Stillwater. Upon graduating Susie plans a career in teaching.

Having red hair and flashy brown eyes, this 5'3" beauty was chosen as freshman class Homecoming Queen attendant for the 1967-68 school year. Susie has also participated in Norse Stars.

Although no longer a teenager, 20 year old Susie still has a strong interest in clothes, of any kind, and of course boys. As her favorite sports, she rates football and baseball as first on her list. Susie can usually be found watching these sports avidly. As hobbies, she enjoys swimming and reading.

This year, Susie's schedule includes art, geology, humanities, English literature and economics. Along with the role of coed she also plays that of a working girl. Susie works after classes at the Miami Baptist Hospital where she has also employed this summer. With all these activities, work and what little leisure time she has, Susie still maintains a B plus grade average.

When asked how she liked attending college in the town she has lived in all her life, Susie, giving a small grin, answered, "It has its disadvantages."

Susie's father, Mr. Velson Gray, is employed as a printer at the Miami News-Record. The Gray family resides at 2018 C N.E.

It is easy to see why Susie is so popular on the NEO campus with her quick smile and easy manner. She is bound to go far in her life with her beauty and personality. Next time you see Susie walking to class, take a second look and see if she doesn't give campus beautification a big boost.

(Editor's note: The current poll was taken soon after the close of the Democratic National Convention. The candidate of a party which has held a convention shortly before a poll is taken usually gets a boost as a result of the attendant publicity he has received.)

As the 1968 presidential campaign moves into high gear, Richard Nixon holds a comfortable 43 to 31 lead over Hubert Humphrey, with George Wallace receiving 19 percent of the popular vote.

The latest national findings, based on personal interviews conducted between Sept. 3 and 7, represent a slight gain for Humphrey over the previous survey conducted on the heels of the GOP convention in late August.

In the earlier survey the vote was 45 per cent for Nixon, 29 percent for Humphrey and 18 percent for Wallace.

The following question was asked of the representative sample of 1,507 adults in personal interviews in over 320 localities:

"If the presidential election were being held today, which candidate would you vote for — Nixon, the Republican, Humphrey the Democrat, or Wallace, the candidate of the American Independent party?"

The results, based on persons who are currently registered to vote and the trend:

	Late August	Latest August
Nixon	43	45
Humphrey	41	39
Wallace	19	18
Undecided	7	8

George Wallace, the third party candidate running on the American Independent party ticket, is preferred by approximately one voter in five nationally. But Wallace outdistances both Nixon and Humphrey in the South. Outside the South, Wallace gets his biggest vote in the Midwest, where 15 percent currently rally to his cause.

Earlier poll findings indicated that Wallace was ahead in only five deep south states. But current survey evidence shows Wallace's support growing in the border states, increasing the possibility that Wallace could carry most if not all of the 12 states of the South if an election were held at this time.

The following table shows the pattern of support by the four major regions of the nation, based on a combination of the last two surveys:

Percent Vote By Regions
Nixon HHH Wallace Underc.
East	47	34	10	9
Midwest	46	29	15	8
Farwest	52	31	11	6
South	31	25	28	6

Vice President Humphrey is having the same difficulties today that Barry Goldwater has as the GOP nominee in 1964.

In the 1964 election, 29 per cent of the Republican left the party ranks to vote for President Johnson. In the current survey, 27 per cent of the Democrats are defecting to Nixon or Wallace, a greater Democratic defection than in any other recent presidential race.

Nixon, on the other hand, is having considerable success in keeping Republicans within the fold. Only 10 percent are defecting to either Humphrey or Wallace.

At no time in recent history have so few Independents supported the Democratic candidate. Only about one person in five who describes himself as an Independent in politics presently backs the vice president.

The following table shows the vote by political affiliation:

Percent Vote By Party
Nixon HHH Wallace Underc.
Dem.	20	63	17	10
Rep.	89	3	7	1
Ind.	20	20	33	8

Although Richard Nixon starts the campaign with a comfortable lead, the situation can change dramatically even in the space of a few weeks, as Harry Truman proved in 1948.

GOP candidate Thomas E. Dewey had a clearcut lead over President Harry Truman at the start of the campaign in 1948. But the election was of course won by Truman who captured 49.9 percent of the popular vote to 45.3 percent for Dewey, 2.4 per cent for Progressive party candidate Henry Wallace and 2.4 per cent for States' Rights candidate J. Strom Thurmond.

Graduate Nurses Face State Exams

Northeastern A&M's vocational School of Practical Nursing held graduation ceremonies for 10 students last Fri. night in the college Little Theater.

Mrs. Dorothy Hall, co-ordinator of the school, stated that the graduation speaker was Dr. Charles H. Price, Miami, M.D.

The graduates are Patty Baldwin, Grove; Judith Hall Carey, Chetopa, Kans.; Deborah David, Tulsa; Hazel Hall, Fairland; Mary K. Hudson, Fairfax; Dorothy M. Langston, Miami; Donna McCammon, Picher; Leona Rogers, Welch; Violet Taylor, Bartlesville; Camelia Willis, Vinita.

Upon receiving their diplomas the graduates are now eligible to take the state board examinations in Oklahoma City on Oct. 29. Successful completion of this examination will enable the nurses to obtain a license to practice as a practical nurse in Oklahoma.

Instructors for the nursing school are Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Carol Morris and Mrs. Carol Barnett, registered nurses.

Spanish Officers Chosen For Fall

Officers for Northeastern A&M's Spanish club were chosen at a meeting held Thursday Sept. 19, according to Mrs. Burns, club sponsor.

Vaughn Predicts Continued Unrest

Peace Corps Director Jack Vaughn predicts continuing protest activities on college campuses in the coming year because many school administrators have not tuned in to the real cause of unrest among students.

In an article in the September issue of Glamour magazine, Vaughn states: "It is becoming clear that half of today's students are out to change the system — not necessarily our system but their system of higher education. I believe they're right in thinking it is ready for radical overhauling."

The trouble, Vaughn believes, stems from depersonalization of higher education and failure to recognize students as adults capable of full participation in society and in educational affairs.

The student is demanding a personal experience, Vaughn says, and turns on the school administration. "If this is to be reversed, the faculty must be liberated, and perhaps reoriented toward the student" the Peace Corps director says.

He points out, "It may be that there will be more dissent on the campus similar to unrest which rocked many campuses last year unless changes ensue in the decision-making apparatus of higher education."

Vaughn's opinions are based on the results of a Louis Harris survey of student attitudes toward current issues such as Peace Corps service, the Vietnam war, the civil rights movement, and student activism. The Harris poll, commissioned by the Peace Corps, was supplemented by in-depth interviews conducted by Peace Corps staff members on 12 representative campuses.

"The two most significant results of our studies," says Vaughn, "were the finding that the real revolutionaries totaled less than four percent of the student population and that one third of the students were activists who want to work for reform within the system."

According to Vaughn, the surveys indicated that 11 percent of all students are "true protest-activists," i.e., those who comprise the leadership of most campus protest activities. However, only four percent of all students are

"so radical or anarchistic in their views to be considered out of communication with society."

"There is another 30 percent committed to social and political action but who feel that their goals can be attained within existing systems," says Vaughn. "Add to these groups an estimated 10 percent whom we can call constructivists—those committed to social and political action, but who have not engaged in dissent or protest movements."

COLLEGE UNREST
This adds up, Vaughn says, to approximately 50 per cent of the student body committed to some form of social action, ranging from violent protest to doing community volunteer work. Vaughn describes the 50 percent who are still uncommitted to social action as "the remnant of the 'silent generation' of the '50s. He points out that the Harris survey shows a drop in interest in Peace Corps service among the four percent of students who are radical activists (primarily due to anti-Government sentiment because of the Vietnam war).

"But on the other hand, the rapidly increasing number of the more moderate activists who were very interested in the Peace Corps gave us a greater number of students likely to volunteer for the Peace Corps," Vaughn says.

Norse Stars Plan A Busy Season

Northeastern Oklahoma A&M's Norse Stars, a precision drill and dance team, are scheduled for a busy season this year at NEO and away.

The Norse Stars began their season at Centerville, Iowa. They are expected to have a routine for each home game, and will make one more out-of-town trip: this one to Kilgore, Tex. tomorrow.

Press Club

Northeastern's Press Club met Thursday, Sept. 19, and elected officers for the 1968-69 school year. Officers are, president, Monty Franks; vice president, Robert Campbell; secretary - treasurer, Barbara Hooper; representative to the student senate, Lloyd Isley; representative at large, Bill Hurley.

Wilson, Shawn; Wood, Linda; Wortham, Sharon; Wyatt, Tony; Yandie, Kathy; Zeigler, Betty; and Zordel, Adonna.

Norse Defense Shines Again

The Scoreboard

BY MONTY FRANKS

With Cameron going to a four-year schedule and Oklahoma Military Academy dropping football entirely, Northeastern A&M is the lone entry in Oklahoma's junior college ranks.

The Norsemen are trying to win their second straight junior college title and their chances for doing so are excellent. Although they lost their All-Americans, quarterback Doug Mathews and linebacker Ronnie Lowe, Coach Bowman's Norsemen have some of the most impressive athletes in recent years as top prospects. Setting an all-time local record of 160 candidates for pre-season practice the squad has been trimmed to 36 players.

This season promises to be one of the best with top freshmen prospects such as Joe Harrison, Mel Riggins, Larry Harris, Tom Dick, Ken Fields and many others. Terry Ash, Barty Chappell, Ron Yankowski, Tom Fletcher, Randy Crow and many others head the sophomores. Sophomore leadership has been stressed by Coach Bowman at almost all of his group meetings and as the season progresses this leadership will begin to inspire the freshmen.

Tom Fletcher rejoined the ballclub after missing the first game at Centerville. Fletcher was present when his defensive cohort Barty Chappell picked off a Falcon pass and rambled 17-yards for the TD. Tom was one of the first Norsemen from the sidelines to congratulate Chappell on his brilliant theft. Fletcher is one of the top All-American candidates on the Norsemen team this season.

At about the time Chappell was making news for the defense, Jerry Mitchell, Chappell's hometown opposite, was giving life to the Norsemen's offense as he set up pass blocking and prevented Randy Crow from being mauled by the big linemen for the Falcons. "The Hog Man" as he is called by his teammates was honored as offensive lineman of the week for his performance in the Centerville game.

This year the Norsemen coaching staff was enlarged with the addition of Don Rominger from Minco who will assist in coaching the hamburger squad and also the track team. Coach John Tiger will be assisted by Richard Ball who is not a member of the faculty but who is a past graduate of Northeastern A&M. Richard is employed at the loan department of the First National Bank. No wonder coach Tiger wanted Richard as his assistant.

Magill's TD Helps Down Tyler Texas

Defense was the name of the game as the Golden Norsemen staved off a last minute charge by the Apaches of Tyler, Tex., to down them 18-12 before a capacity crowd at Robertson Field last Saturday night.

Three freshmen from three states scored a touchdown each for coach Chuck Bowman's Norsemen in giving them a 2-0 record for the young season. This Saturday night the Norsemen play at Kilgore, Tex., against the Kilgore Rangers, who lost to Tyler by a 21-7 score the previous week.

Tailback Larry Harris of Fort Worth, Tex., scored the first Norse TD at 11:26 in the first quarter on a 22-yard run, two plays after the Norse recovered a fumbled punt at that point. Harris swung to the left and then cut sharply to the right on his sharp dash. Dick Holloway's extra-point kick was wide to give the Norsemen a 6-0 lead.

Tyler evened the score with 12:23 left in the second quarter when soph Rick Nabors of Austin intercepted QB Randy Crow's pass and raced 61 yards to the goal line. Mike Irons' extra-point kick was blocked by David Statton and Rod LaCourse.

With 50 seconds left in the third quarter, freshman Mel Riggins of Charleston, W. Va., slashed through a hole at the left side and outran secondary defenders on a 88-yard TD dash. Steve Dade's extra-point kick was wide as the Norsemen led 12-6.

Defensive back Ralph McGill of Sebring, Fla., scooped up the rolling ball on a Tyler fumble and dashed 43 yards for a touchdown with 11:02 left in the fourth quarter. Holloway's conversion kick was wide.

At 9:16 in the last quarter, WB Narcisse Landry, another Beaumont freshman with the Apaches, caught a pass from Ramm after a struggle with McGill at the 10-yard line and then raced across the goal line on a play that covered 43 yards. Nabors was stopped a yard short on a conversion run.

Jerry Bishop of Tyler recovered a Norse fumble on the Norse 35. The Apaches moved to the 7 before giving up the ball when a pass failed on fourth down.

With 1:52 left, the Apaches took over on the 50 after a 35-yard punt by Terry Ash. QB Ramm's pass to end Rodney Warren put the ball on the 37. Another aerial made it to the 29. A toss back to Landry lost a yard. With fourth down and 43 seconds left, a 29-yard pass to Nabors put the ball on the 18. Another pass was incomplete. With only 13 seconds to go, Ramm's pass was completed to Fontno for five yards on the last play of the game.

NORSEMEN quarterback Randy Crow, displays his elusive running tactics against the rugged defense of Tyler, Texas. Crow suffered a shoulder separation in the game which the Norsemen won 18-12. Randy will miss the next game at Kilgore, Texas on Saturday night.

Randy Crow Accepts NEO's QB Position

"Filling the shoes of Doug Mathews is going to be quite a challenge," Randy Crow, quarterback for the Northeastern A&M Golden Norsemen insists.

"I know that Doug was a fine all-around player," he said. "As far as trying to be the all-around player and razzie-dazzle runner that he was, I know I'm not. But I feel I may be a little stronger passer than Doug was. This summer I worked out every day with assistant coach Richard Ball and he helped me improve my passing considerably."

Mathews who hails from Picher, was an all-American juco quarterback for the Norsemen last year. He led them to the Shrine Bowl at Savannah, Ga., where they defeated Lees-McRae of Banner Elk, N.C., 35-13, to capture the national junior college championship.

Mathews is now attending Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tenn., on a football scholarship.

Although Crow did not get to play as much last year as he would have liked, he did see enough action to rush seven times for 41 yards with an average of 5.85 yards per carry and completed three out of 13 passes for 52 yards and one touchdown.

Crow, 5-9 and 178, can run the 100 in 10 flat, and was a standout football player during his high school years at Braman.

Although he lettered four years in high school, his greatest football years were while a junior and senior when he led his team to 8-1 and 9-1 records respectively.

Considered to be one of the greatest athletes to ever graduate from Braman High School, Crow in his junior year carried the ball for 1,350 yards rushing and scored 108 points out of a team total of 344. He also threw the ball for an extra 1080 yards.

In his senior year, Crow scored 111 points and rushed for 1,142 yards and threw for another 1,762.

He landed a spot on the 1966 North All-State football squad and played halfback.

When asked how he thought the Norsemen's chances are to repeat for the second consecutive year as the national champs, he replied: "It's too soon to definitely say. But I feel we have a very good chance of going back to Savannah for the title game because we have just as good personnel, if not better, than we did last year."

"At present our greatest weakness is our offensive timing. We are not functioning as smoothly as we should but have improved considerably within the last couple of days."

After completing his Norse football service, Crow hopes to earn a football scholarship at a major university. He wishes to major in agriculture. Upon completion of his formal education, Crow and his wife, Patricia, are interested in pursuing a farming career. They were married this summer.

Stars of '67' Champs Dotting Many Rosters

By Bill Hurley

With many new faces dotting the Golden Norsemen football team this year, the grads of the 1967 national championship squad are scattered across the country in hopes of bringing a winning spirit to their new school.

Last year's NJCAA "Player of the Year," Doug Mathews, signed to play for fellow-Picherite Bill Pace at Vanderbilt. Known at NEO for his explosiveness on offense, the 5'7", 158 lb. mighty nite has been switched to defensive halfback for the Commodores. Joining dandy Doug at the Nashville school is defensive halfback Bo Allgood. Though Vandy has been deep in the collar of the Southeast Conference, these two from NEO could be the keys out of the basement.

Florida State University has three former Norsemen on its roster this season. Probably the most prominent is Ronnie Lowe, an All-American selection at NEO last year. The 5'10", 166-pound linebacker was described by Norse coach Chuck Bowman as the most dedicated player he has ever coached.

Also playing for the Seminoles is John Pell, an honorable mention All-American at defensive halfback, and offensive tackle Gary Yancey. Both are returning to their home state to continue their football careers.

The University of Tennessee hopes that quarterback Larry "Bubba" Dudley can step into the shoes of Dewey Warren, who now is calling signals for the Cincinnati Bengals of the American Football League. Dudley, a great passer, should be a big asset to the Vols' winning tradition.

Tailback Al Consuegra is playing for Kent State of Ohio. The Miami, Florida, native set a Shrine Bowl record last year by rushing for 140 yards.

Place kicking specialists and offensive guard Wayne Cathey will wear the pads of the Thundering Herd of Marshall College in West Virginia. Cathey also has a Shrine Bowl record to his credit by booting five straight points after touchdowns.

Dennis Jackson and Don Granbling, who set Northeastern A&M pass-catching records last year, have enrolled at Cincinnati University and the University of Florida respectively.

Other 1967 graduates are defensive halfback De Cooper at Tampa; fullback Ramiro Gonzalez at Knox College in Illinois; tailback Richard "Buster" Sanchez at the University of Mo., at Rolla; linebacker Frank McCall and end Tom Crego at Central State in Edmond; offensive tackle Howard Culp at Tulane; defensive tackle Bill Summers at Colorado State; and end Larry Line at Panhandle A&M.

Theft Gives Norse Win In Opener

Barty Chappell's third quarter touchdowns after an interception gave the top-rated Golden Norsemen a thrilling 15-14 come-from-behind season opening victory over Centerville, Iowa, before an overflow crowd of 4000 on Sept. 14.

The sophomore from Minco, leaped high to pick off quarterback Ralph Borocz's pass and ran 17 yards to score. Dick Holloway boosted the all important extra point for the margin of victory.

Winners of a 33-0 rout over Highland, Kansas, in their debut, the stubborn Golden Falcons kept the injury-riddled Norse on the ropes throughout the entire game.

After NEO failed to score on a fourth down plunge by Larry Harris from the one, Centerville drove 39 yards to score. A 26-yard run to the visitors' 35-yard line by fullback Ed Moss was the big gainer. With 8:16 remaining in the first quarter, Borocz fired a 26-yard bullet to end Bill Tipton as the Iowa eleven led 7-0.

On the ensuing kickoff, speedy sophomore Terry Ash of Afton took the ball at the ten, sprinted up the middle for 15 yards and cut to the right following his blockers to put coach Chuck Bowman's forces on the scoreboard. Holloway's point-after attempt sailed wide as Centerville led 7-6.

When Harris fumbled a Falcon punt late in the first stanza, Centerville took just four plays to travel 27 yards to paydirt. The Borocz pass this time a 12-yarder to former Missouri Southern star Al Holmes.

Late in the second quarter, Ash boomed a 45-yard punt to the Falcon three. Two plays later, freshman linebacker Mark Driscoll of Ponca City stopped Moss in the end zone for a two-point safety pulling NEO closer at 14-8.

Quarterback Randy Crow gained 166 of the Vikings' 244 yard total. He directed a 66-yard drive in the fourth quarter that was halted at the Centerville two when defensive specialist David Slatton was stopped. Slatton was an all-stater on offense in 1966 at Sand Springs, but was shifted to defense last year.

The forces of coach Mark Hopkins took over and fumbled on third down. Driscoll recovered at the eight, but once again the Norse offense could not take it in to score.

A 44-yard scamper by Moss was the big gainer in a 93-yard march but the tough Northeastern defense, led by Driscoll, Chappel, and Ron Yankowski, stopped the home team at the one with 1:21 left.

In seven plays the Blue and Gold moved to their own 40. Then on a time-killing quarterback sneak, Crow found daylight and rambled 31 yards before being caught from behind at the nine. The ball popped out of his hands, and the Falcons recovered with eight seconds to go. Borocz sprinted 20 yards as the game ended.

Defense Way of Life For NEO's "Yank"

BY MONTY FRANKS

For the past two football seasons, defense has been a way of life for Ron Yankowski. The big 6-4, 216-pound tackle is no stranger to NEO fans. Last season as a freshman he was the hub of the defensive unit.

Ron, who hails from Picher, Okla., promises to be the second All-American that town has produced in as many years. Last year Doug Mathews was voted the honor for his outstanding quarterbacking ability. Ron has played football his entire life and was named All-Conference his senior year in the Lucky Seven circuit. Ron's love for contact has made him a fierce competitor on the Norsemen's defensive unit.

His teammates refer to him as "Yank". Coach Chuck Bowman thinks that "Ron Yankowski, will be our best asset. He should be All-American." Ron is dedicated to defense and feels that, "A defensive lineman feels the pressure of a ball game because he is responsible for stopping the advancement of the opposing team." He also feels "that this years defensive team is more experienced than last year."

When asked about the Norsemen prospects this season Yank replied, "I know that we will go all the way because the whole team has a winning attitude and our coaching staff is great." Strong and rugged, Ron was one of the leaders which held Lees-McRae to a minus 51 yards on the ground in the championship game last year.

Majoring in physical education, Ron plans on furthering his career at the University of Oklahoma. Upon graduation he would like to play professional football or become a high school coach.

Why
We Carry
GANT

There's more than 100 years of history in Gant. In addition, "needled into the warp and woof of every Gant shirt," there's flair, fit and show — three vital ingredients that make all the difference when a man wears a Gant.

We chose Gant because they take shirtmaking seriously. They're hard to please (like we are) when it comes to fit of collar, its roll, its profile — how much it shows above the suit collar. They're fastidious about the way the body of the shirt drapes and folds. All must integrate to achieve that viable ingredient which gives comfort and aplomb. In substance, Gant shirts are keyed to the discerning tastes of well-groomed men who appreciate quality. These men are our customers.
